SHIRLEY B. KIGER

SKYLINE '74 is dedicated to Shirley B. Kiger, principal of Waynesboro High School, 1964-74. While his leadership, loyalty, and great personality will be missed at WHS, we know that he will apply these same fine qualities to his new position of Director of Personnel for the city school system.

STUDENT LIFE

SURGING EUPHORIA

Occasional gaiety penetrates customary attitudes of WHS students. Sentiments toward school life are heightened through these bursts of spontaneous enthusiasm.

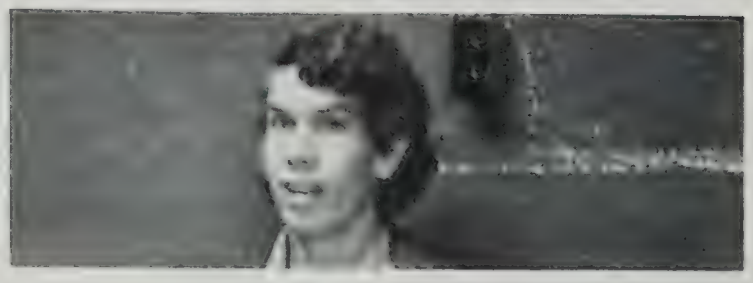

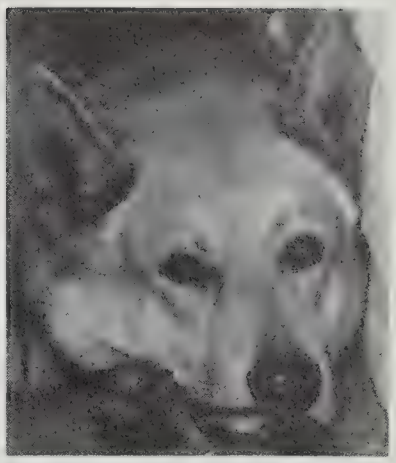

IMPENDING MELANCHOLIA

Once again, we lapse into pensiveness. Pressures and irritations precipitated by a seemingly unbearable school day surmount our usual countenance. Perceiving all that has gone wrong during class, we fail to understand or agree with pursuance of an education. Therefore, we revert musingly to our private worlds.

SADIE HAWKINS

"I'll just die if he says 'no'!"
"Now I know what the guys must feel like when they ask out a girl."
"He's looking at me. Do you think he knows I want to ask him?"
"I can't do it! I just can't do it!"

How often did you hear these and similar laments in the weeks prior to Sadie Hawkins? At this time every year jittery girls abound at WHS because of the very popular dance for which the girls ask the guys. In most cases the girls got over their nervousness, asked their favorite boy, and a good time was had by all. This Beta Club sponsored "hoe-down" continues to be a WHS favorite year after year.

Mary Virginia Dunaway kicks the H... out of Sadie Hawkins.

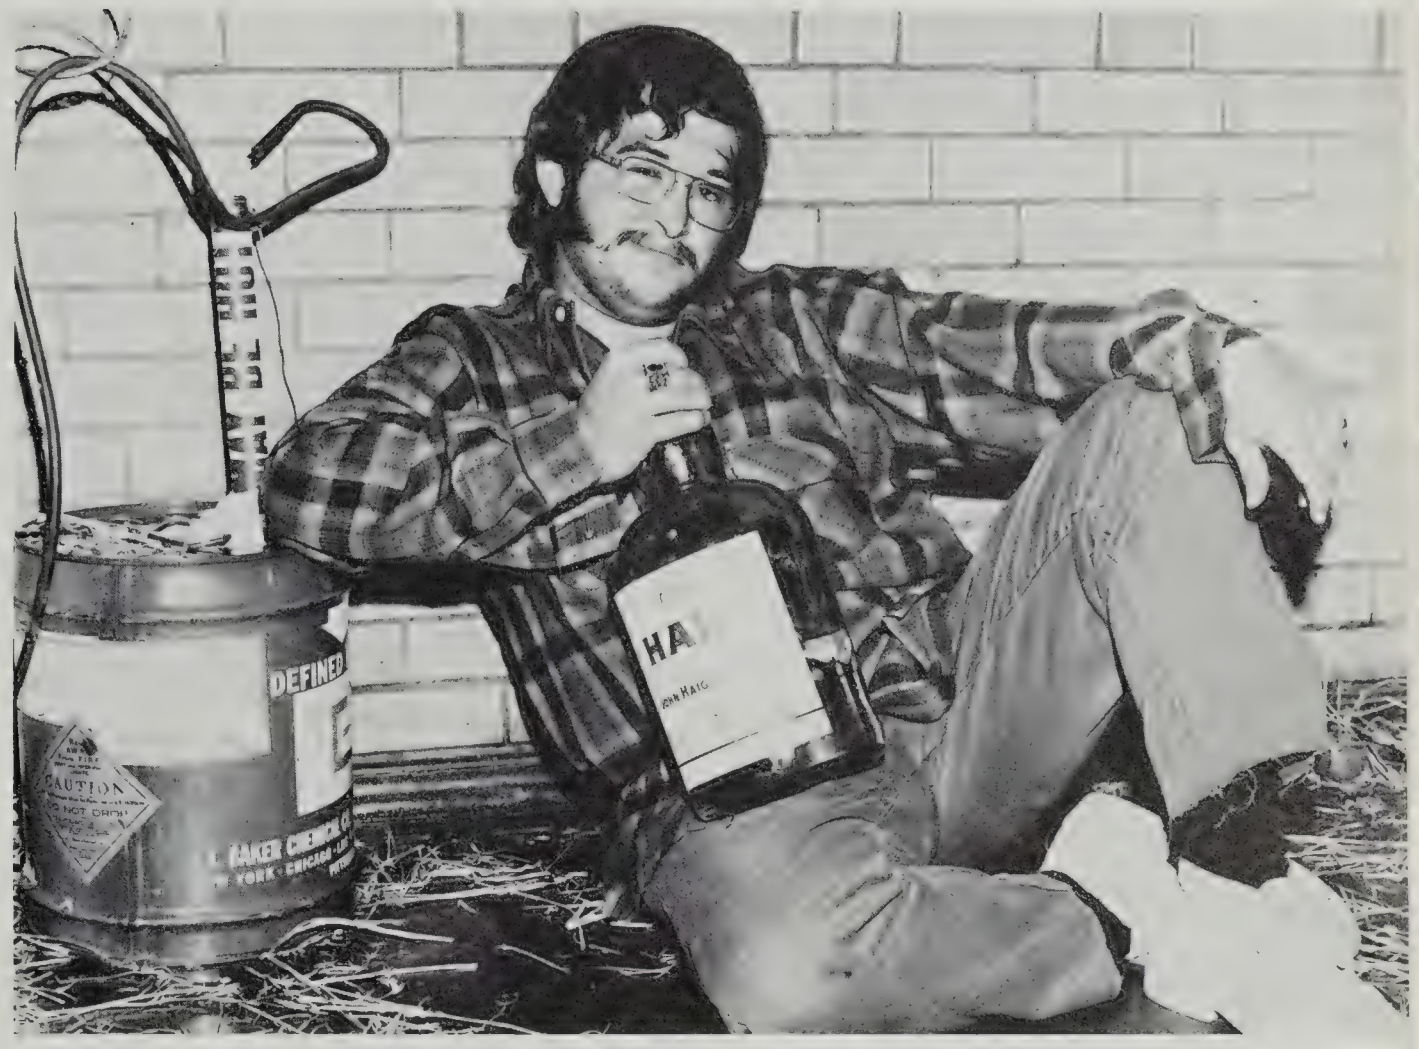

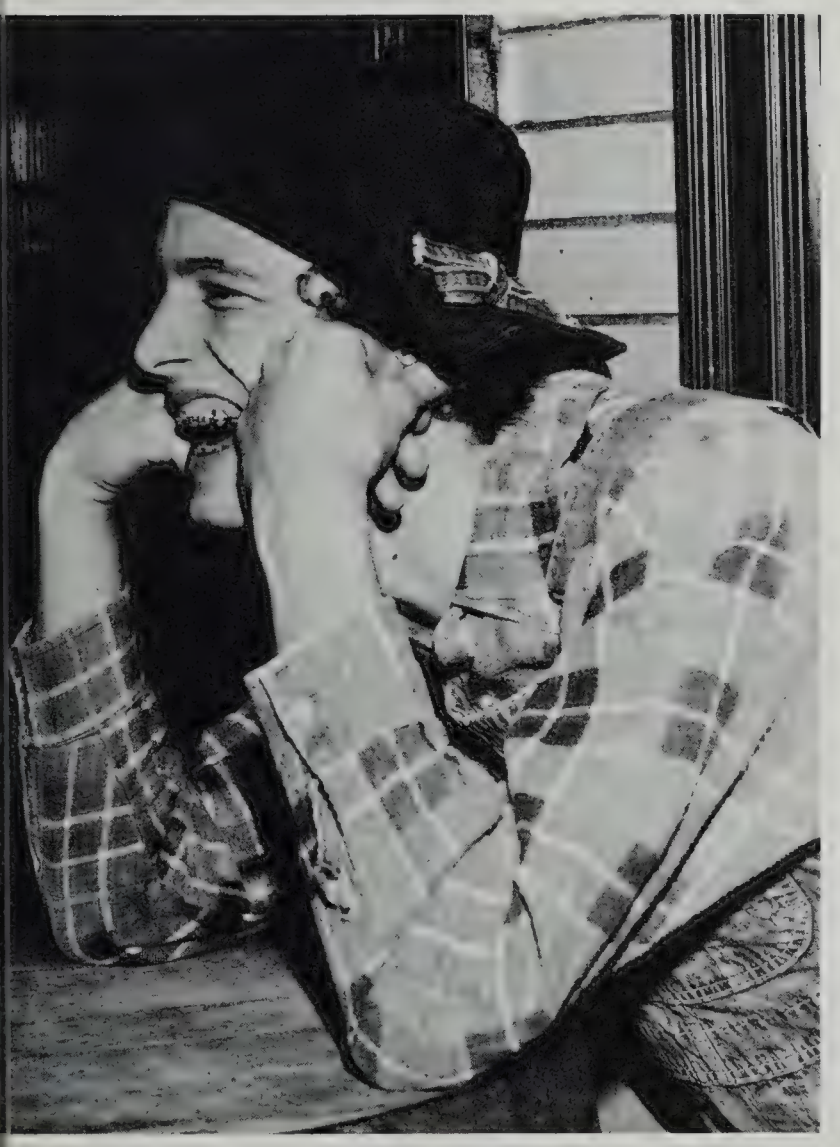

Looks like Peggy is really turning on her country charm, and Miles is certainly responding.

Foreign exchange student, Fressya Monge, learns about "down-home" America while in the company of Joe Brunetto.

"Nuthin' like good ol'Korn Likker to wet your whistle after some lively foot stompin'."

Pam Wilson and Kevin Foley share a secret, unaware of the scrutiny of the "Watchful Eye".

Jack Stirewalt and Lisa Campbell — reigning King and Queen of Sadie Hawkins.

FOR ONCE IN OUR LIVES

With the capable organization of the Pep Club, WHS enjoyed another memorable Homecoming Dance. Wheatstone Bridge, always a favorite here, played a selection of popular songs.

FACULTY

Mr. Muncy's administrative role shows through as he controls the human traffic at half time.

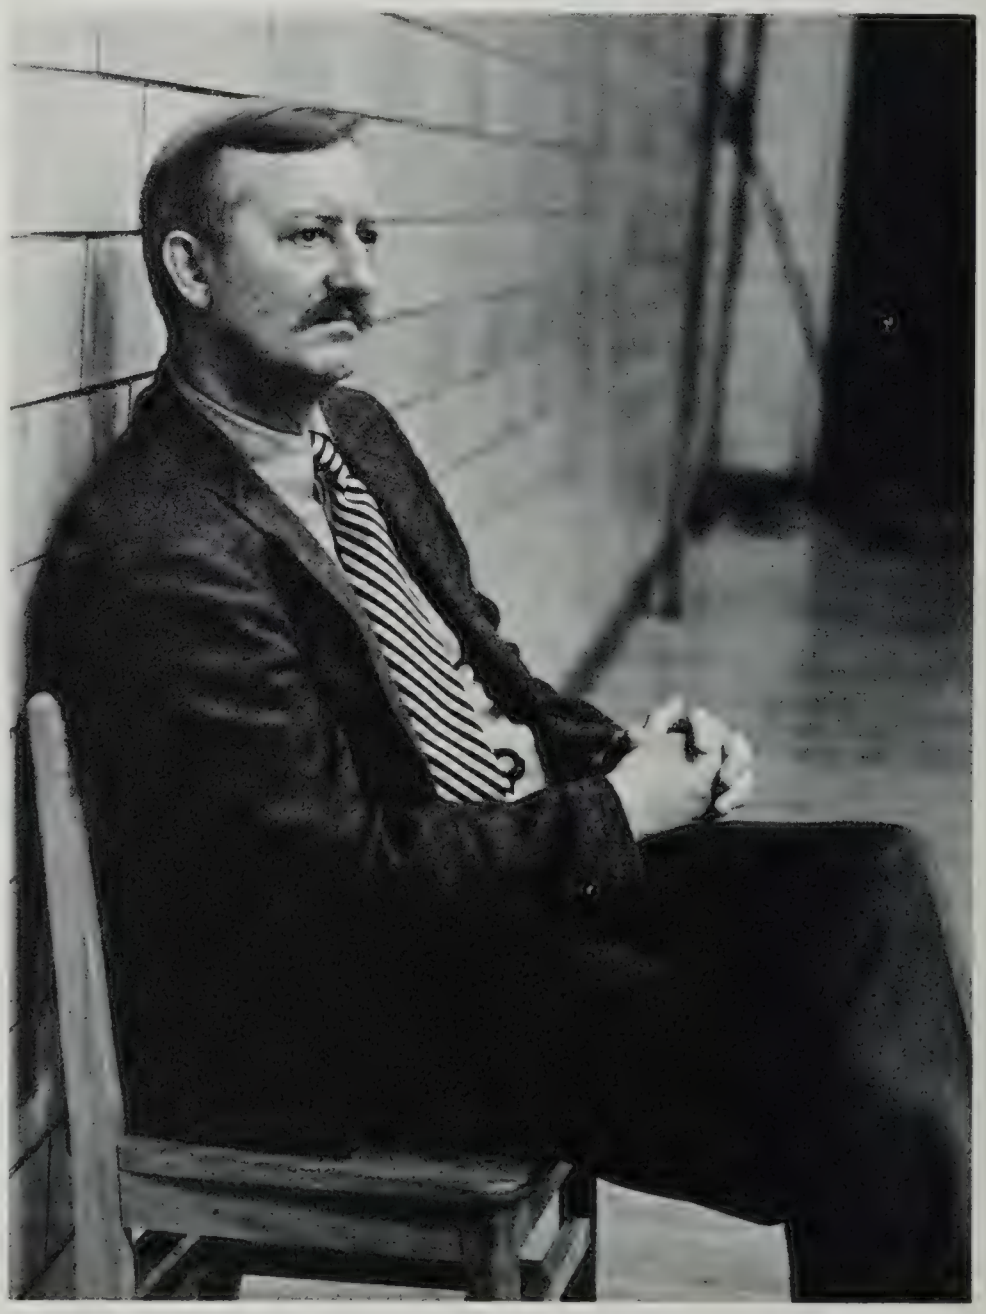

You Don't Mess Around With Them

Hardly a day passes that we don't see Mr. S.B. Kiger rushing through the halls of WHS trying to solve another disaster. Meanwhile, Mr. Lotts takes care of the immense number of student activities. Ably assisted in disciplinary dilemmas by the lovable Mr. Muncy, the administration personnel struggle to make order out of the mayhem of each school day.

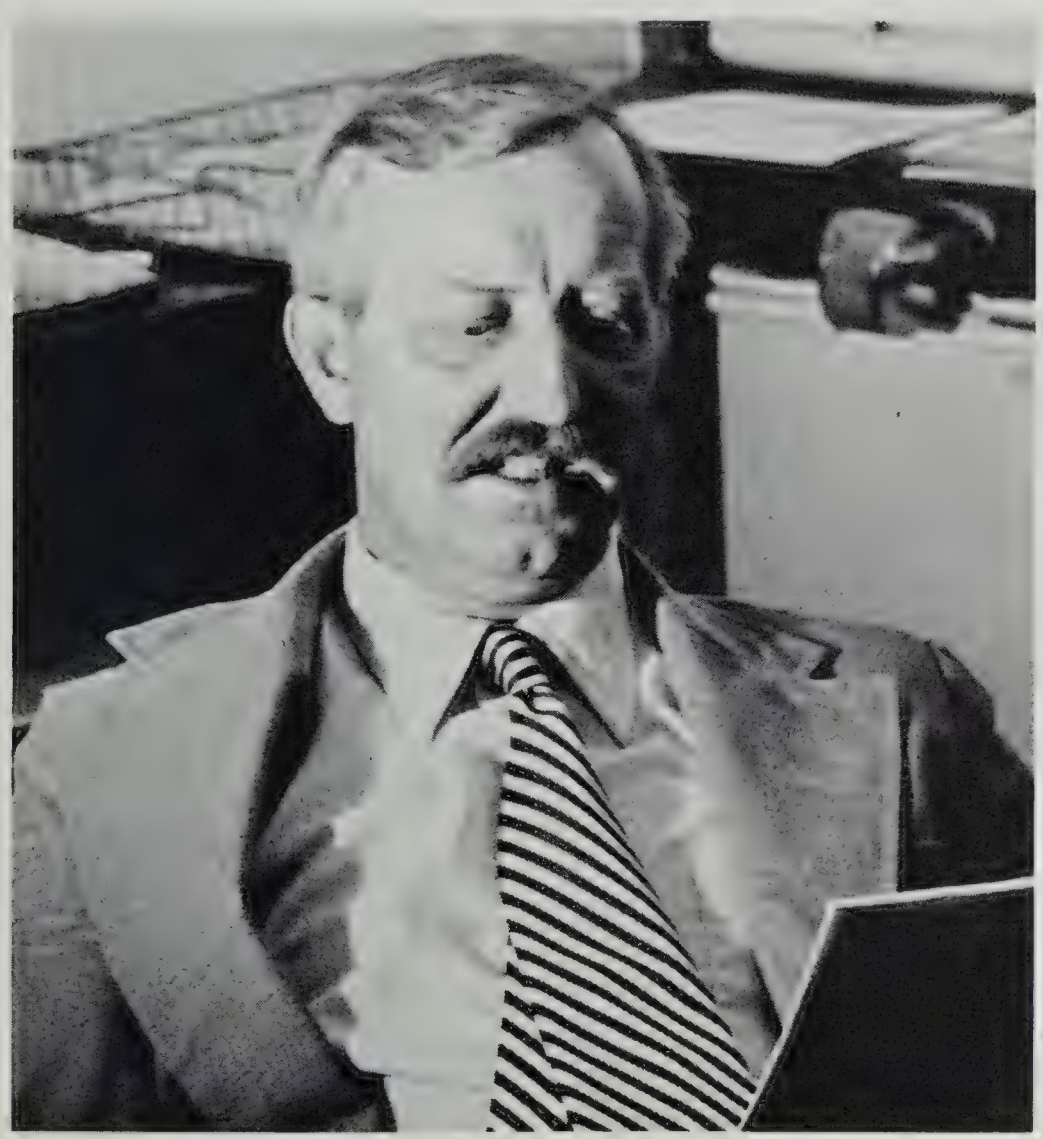

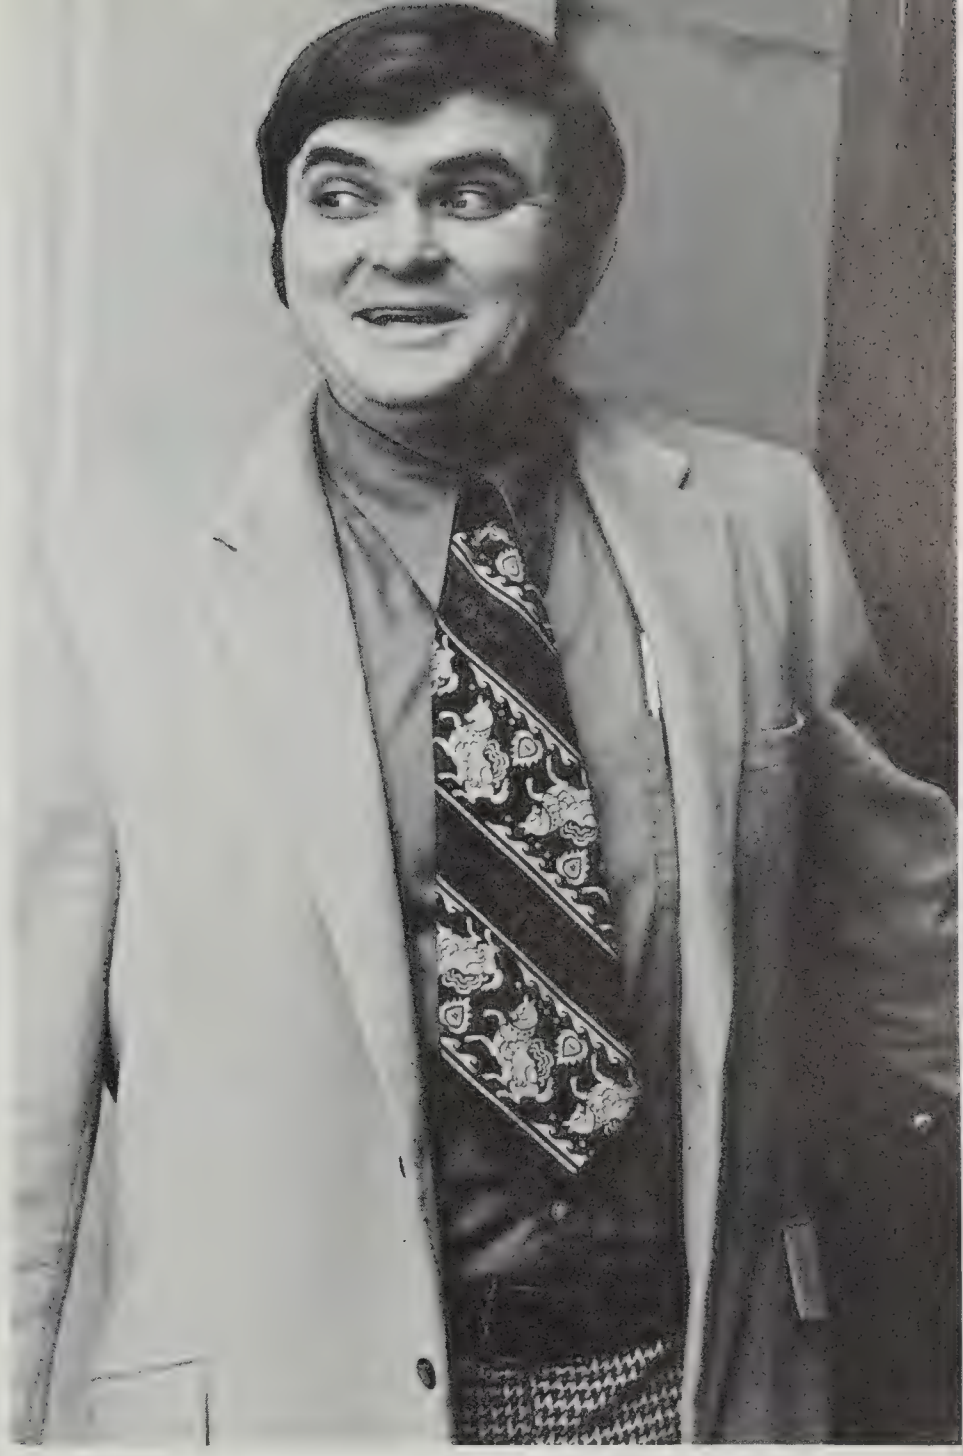

Mr. Kiger's expression reflects his mischievous thoughts.

The action on the basketball court solemnizes Mr. Kiger's usual exuberence.

Mr. Kiger intently reviews the morning announcements.

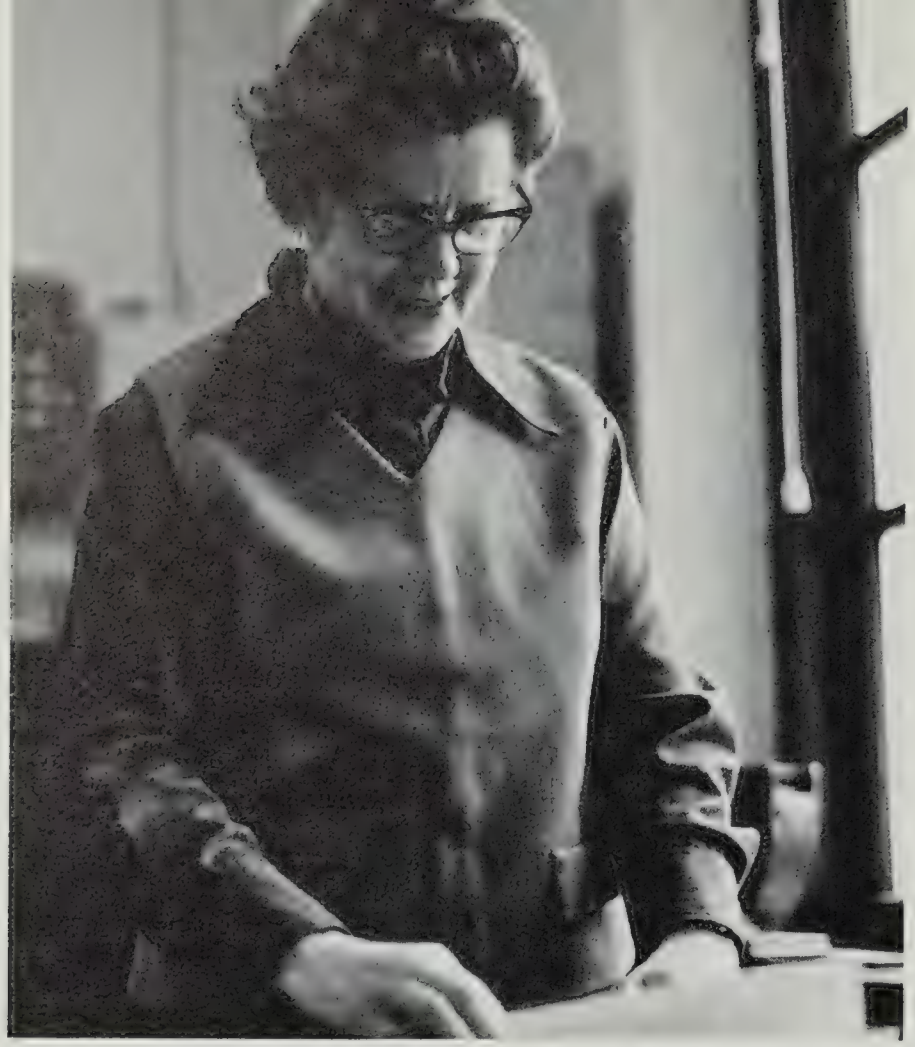

"Come into my parlor," said the spider to the fly.

Mr. Lotts, Director of Student Activities, interrupts his daily routine of paperwork to listen to a proposal about another "foolproof" project.

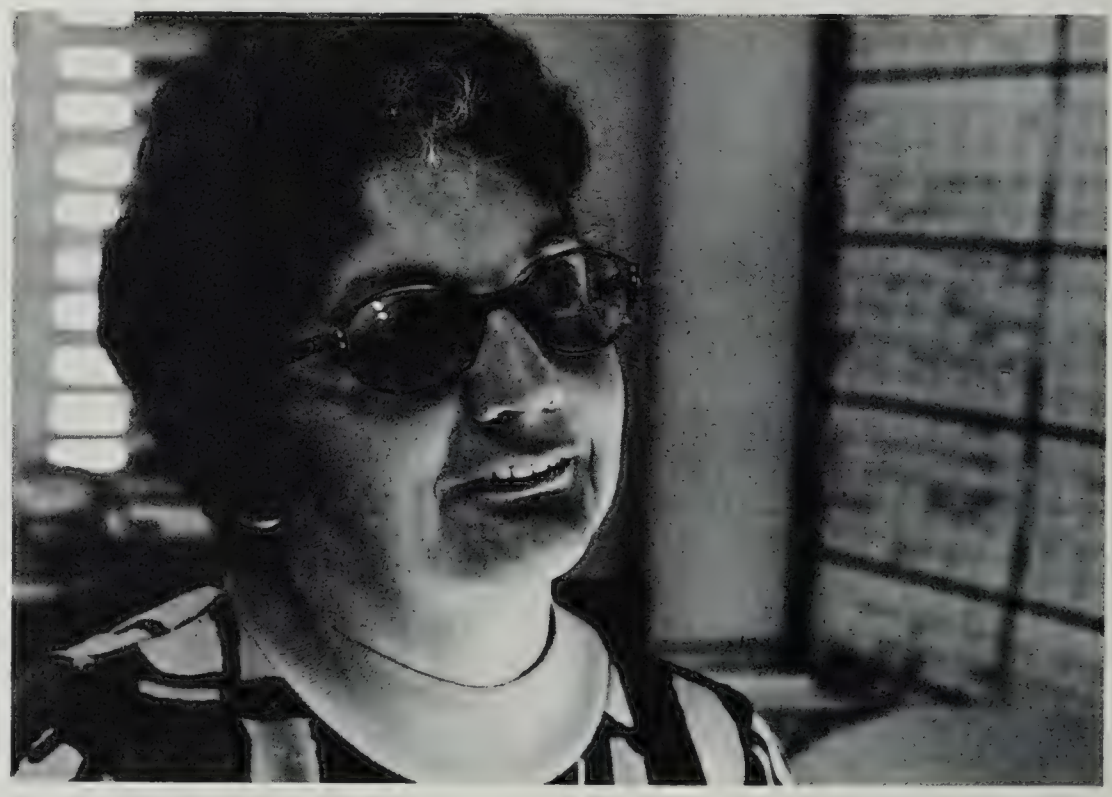

All My Trials

Despite all their trials obligingly provided by students, the four secretaries are the epitome of efficiency, encouragement, and all-around good nature. Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. Hawpe, and Mrs. Bateman, who are located in the main office, manage to overcome interruptions, answer questions, sell a variety of items, take attendance, and still accomplish daily the duties of a secretary. Mrs. Broyles, who is in the Guidance Office, is also indispensable to students. Always willing to help in any way, Mrs. Broyles assists in furthering the goals of the Guidance Department.

CENTER: Mrs. Burnett lends an understanding ear to a tale of woe told by an unknown WHS student.

Mrs. Hawpe hams it up for the photographer.

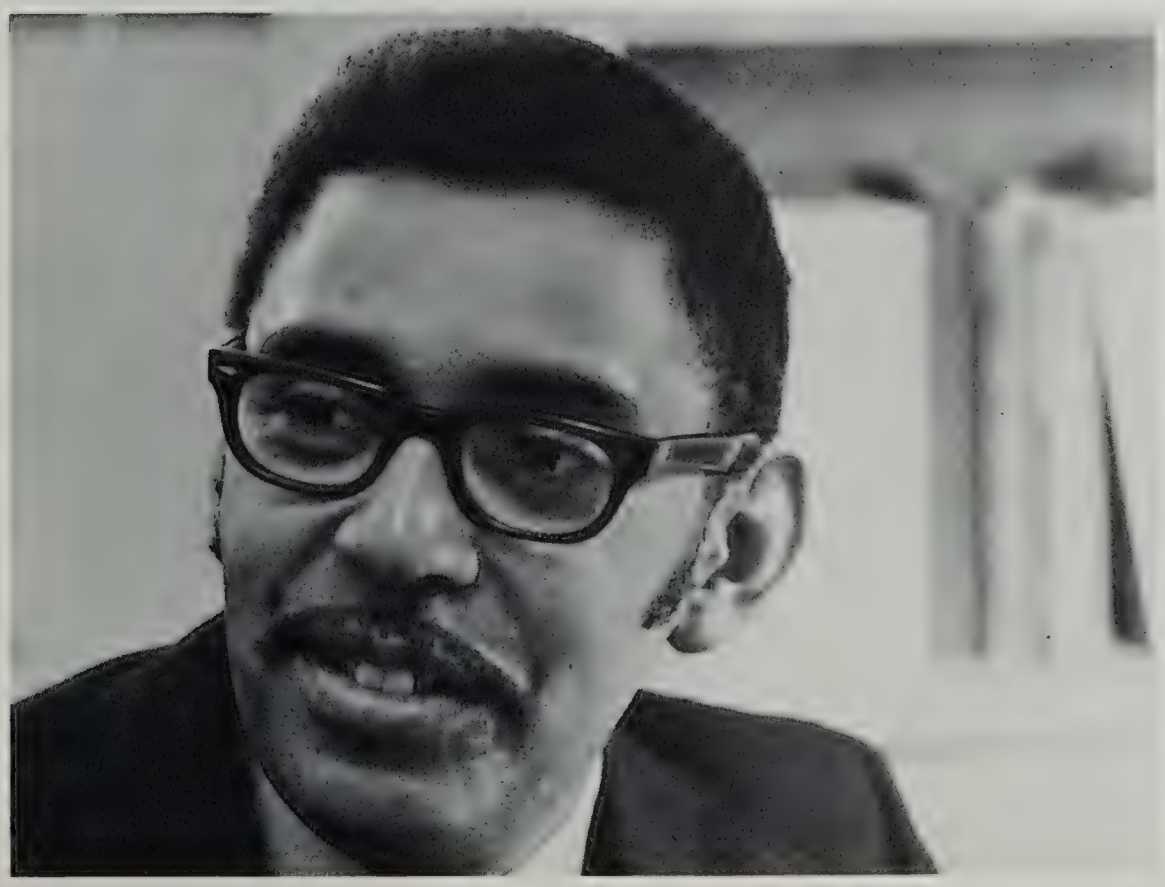

You've Got a Friend

Without the help of Mrs. Chris Edwards, Ben Woodson, Mrs. Martha Schneider, and Frank Placko, many students would find themselves literally lost in choosing their curriculum at W.H.S. The guidance counselors are always there when you need them — whether to talk about a class, seek help in choosing classes for the next year, or just to talk about what's on your mind. It's always nice to have a friend to talk to, and the guidance counselors are exactly that, friends.

CENTER: Although loaded down with semester grade reports, Mrs. Schneider, Director of Student Services, still manages to stay cheerful.

LEFT: Mr. Woodson lends an experienced ear to the problems of a distraught senior.

Yummy, Yummy, Yummy

These enterprising ladies continue to prepare daily lunches for ravenous WHS students. Artfully, they stretch the budget by inventing new menus to meet ever-rising food prices.

The results of the janitor's expertise are often erased from one day to the next. Without their dedicated work, the building would be in a disastrous condition. This year marks Lynwood's thirtieth anniversary on a staff that has given the dear, old building the tender loving care it needs.

Conversing about their various duties as janitors are Lynwood Mitchell, James Smith, and Russell Taylor.

The cafeteria ladies know that a pleasant smile along with a savory meal makes the lunch hour more enjoyable for the students. From left to right: Dorothy Wade, Dorothy Carroll, Patricia Heatwole, Elsie Critzer, Thelma Benson, Roselie Kesterson, Helen Beaver, Anne Myers, Brownie Whitesell.

Our everfaithful Lynwood Mitchell contemplates his future years at WHS.

Mr. Blosser listens earnestly to the pleas of a job hunter.

Want Ads

"How can I get some money?" Students don't need to face this problem alone anymore. The new job placement center, headed by Mr. Blosser, forms a liason between businesses and the high school. With Mrs. Bishop to look after the key records, this new service promises to be a godsend.

Mrs. Bishop diligently goes through the files of student interest.

The sign of our times.

Love, Lines, Angles, and Rhymes

Recognizing the need for self-expression, WHS has organized an effective English Department, the largest of the school's many departments. With diversified approaches to the common goal of developing an appreciation for Literature and English mechanics, ten teachers struggle to avoid hearing the adulation "You done learned us good. Teach!"

UPPER LEFT: Jeezy-peezy! Hey! It's Mr. Hamp, front and center, preparing to give English 12 an introduction to Hamlet.

RIGHT CENTER: Cheerful as usual, Mrs. Flora listens attentively to a student's report.

BOTTOM LEFT: Mr. Hahn is amused by a student's rationalization for not having read Walden.

BELOW: Mr. Grant listens intently to another interpretation of "Sonnet #29."

BOTTOM RIGHT: Mrs. Forbes goes over the juniors' themes with a fine-toothed comb in the silence and solitude of the library.

Mrs. Snyder embodies the spirit of concentration needed to master Latin.

Fressya Monge, a native of Costa Rica, finds herself at home in Mr. Lewis' Spanish class.

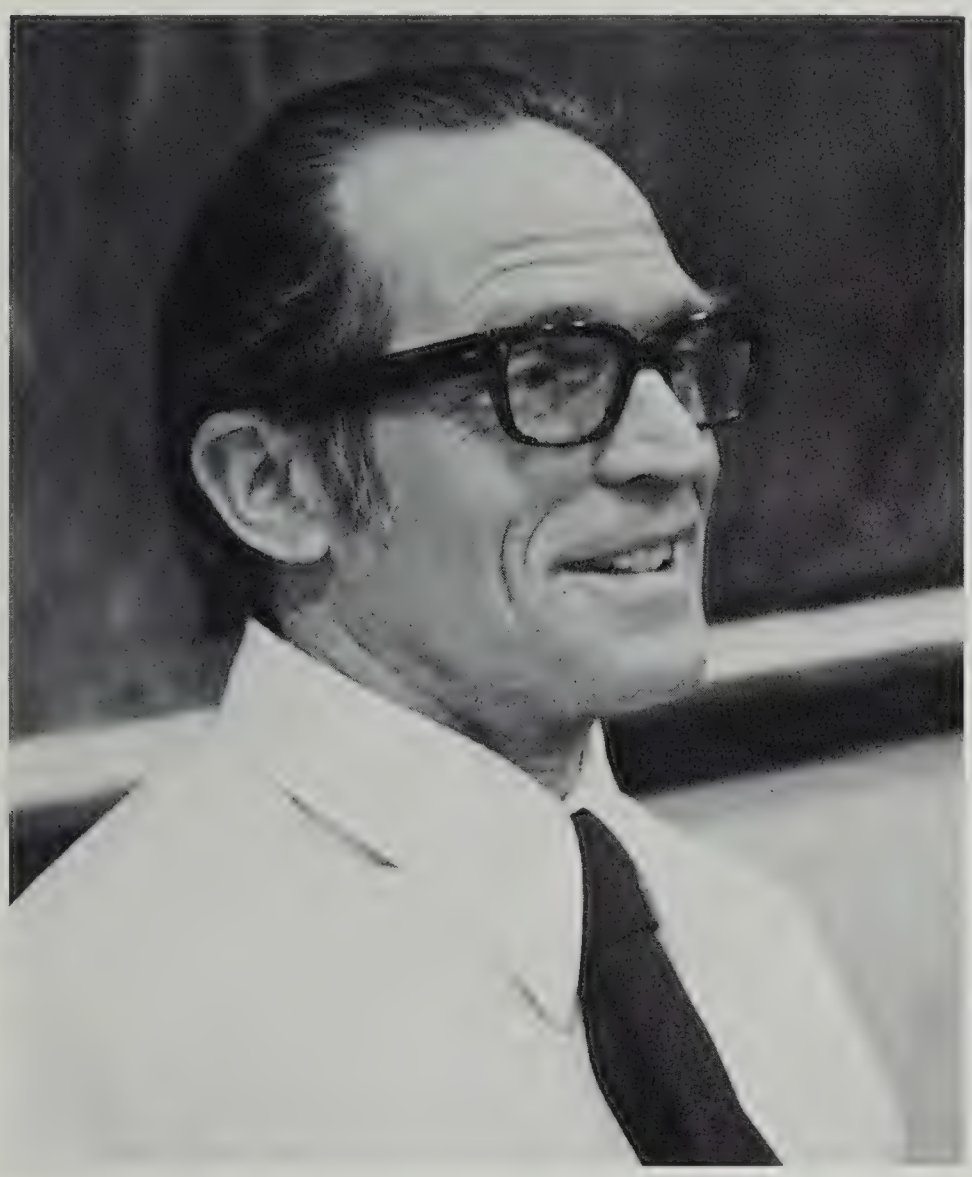

American Pie

A pie, consisting of many ingredients, is used to symbolize a mixture of objects. The United States is also a mixture of many types of people and languages. Among them are French, Spanish, and Latin. Each language plays a vital role in communication of some type, and the foreign language department tries to help this communication "gap" stay bridged. Such teachers as Mr. Forbes, Mrs. Ryerson, Mr. Lewis, Mrs. Hosmanek, and Mrs. Snyder all aid in the teaching of these languages.

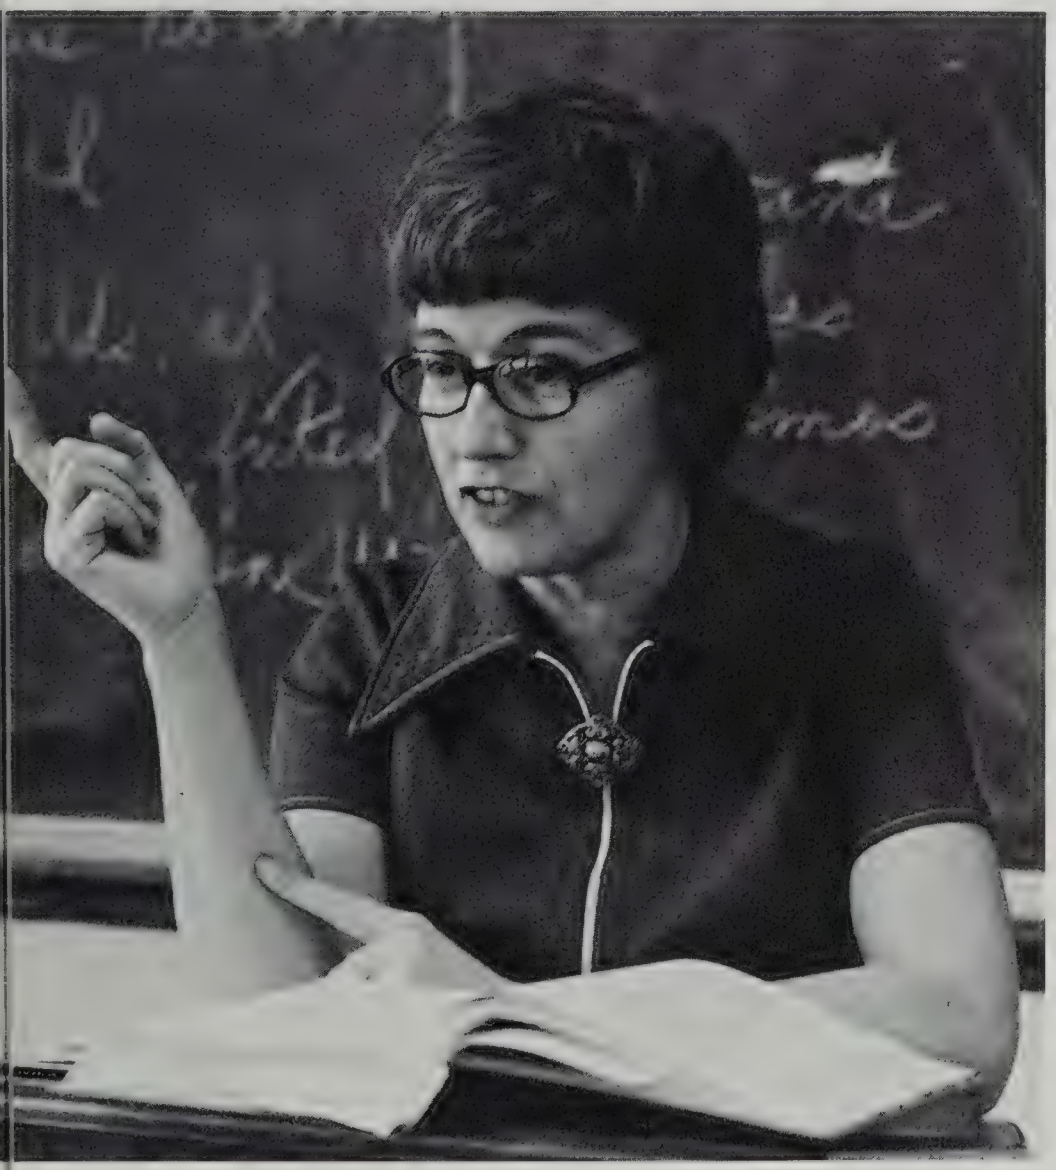

Assuming her regular front-of-the-room position, Mrs. Ryerson expounds on her travels to France.

With an encouraging look, Mr. Lewis prods a hesitant student into speaking.

While listening to a student recitation of "Le Corbeau et le Renard," Mr. Forbes laughs at the humor of the poem.

Mrs. Hosmanek demonstrates for her Spanish I class how to count from one to ten.

Mrs. Kraus always has time to smile.

Pam Wilson glares as a pesky photographer interrupts her study.

Sounds of Silence

Research books, pleasure reading, the latest magazines, an escape from study hall, and a "quiet" meeting place can be found in the library. Under the watchful eyes of Mrs. Foster and Miss Shackelford, students are shown the wonders of the written word.

While our librarians bring appreciation for books, Mrs. Kraus helps students gain appreciation for reading itself. After they have been referred to Mrs. Kraus by their teachers, or even by themselves, students increase their reading skills by drills and exercises which are divorced from classroom pressures.

Besides preparing students for college experience, WHS also helps students ready themselves for living alone. In addition to teaching young girls the fine points of housekeeping and child care, the young men are also helped by a course known as "Bachelor Living."

An unbelieving Mrs. Foster questions, "You say you want 150 copies of Walden by tomorrow?"

Miss Shackelford continues in her never-ending endeavor to keep the libraby neat.

Mrs. Huffer inspects the handiwork of one of her male homemakers.

An unidentifiable Home Ec student strives for perfection.

Time in a Bottle

Social Studies '73-'74 was highlighted by the inquiry into fast-breaking national events of crisis proportions. The Watergate Affair, followed closely by the impeachment controversy surrounding President Nixon, was still raging when the predicted energy crisis became a bitter reality in Waynesboro. These events added to the continuous problem of soaring inflation made this a banner year for the study of history and government.

Mrs. Germaine White obligingly points out her native France.

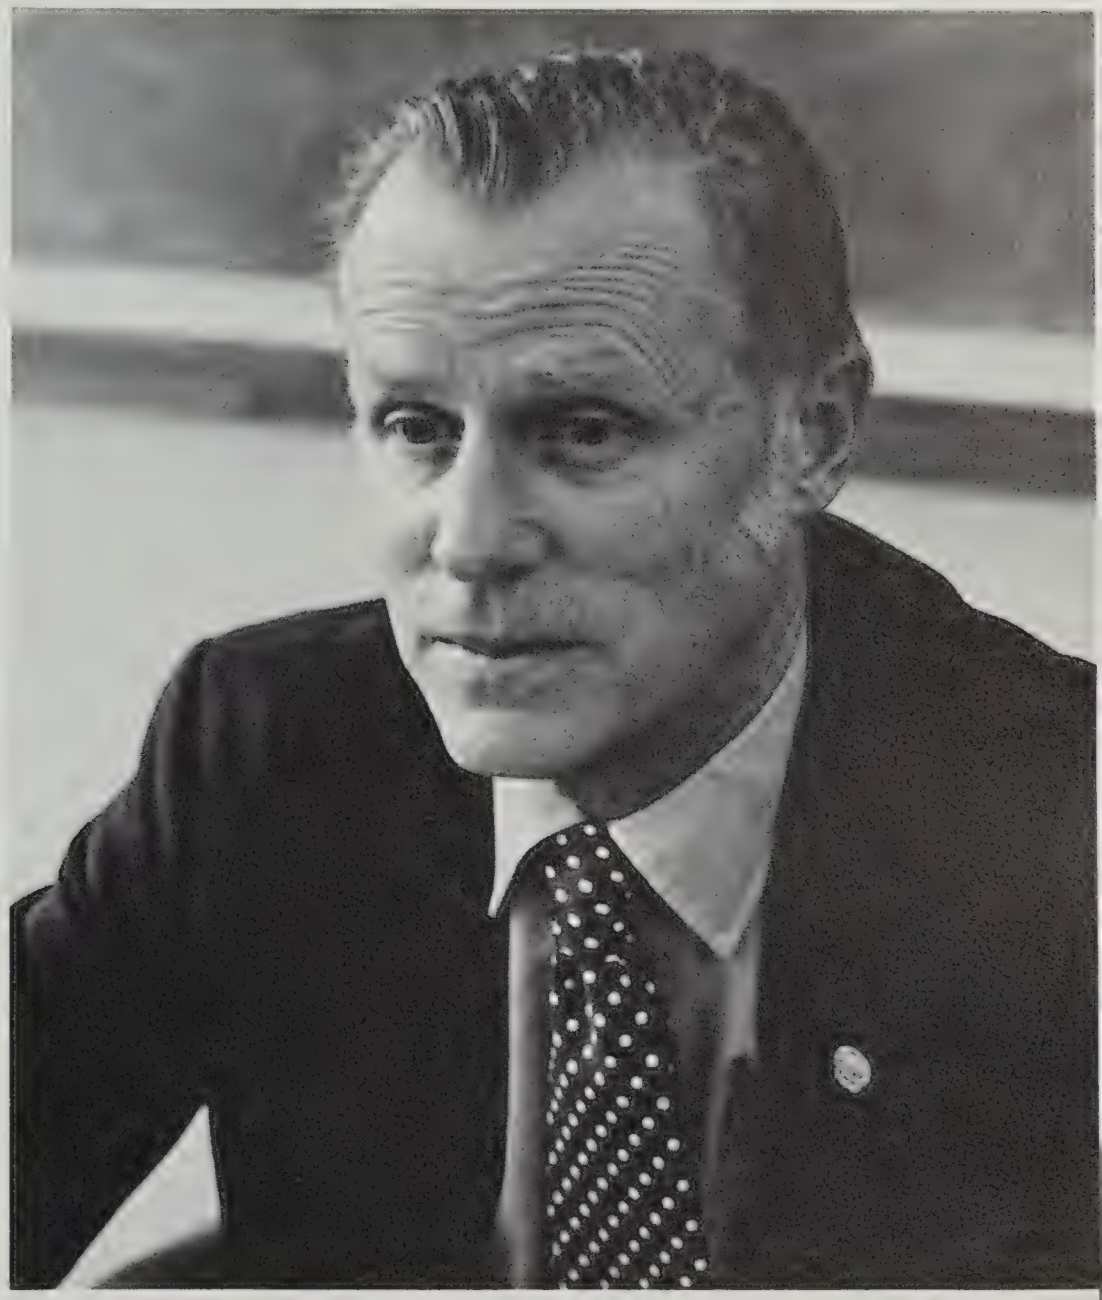

Mr. Haskins Coleman deftly explains the intricacies of the confusing Form 1040 to his bewildered government students.

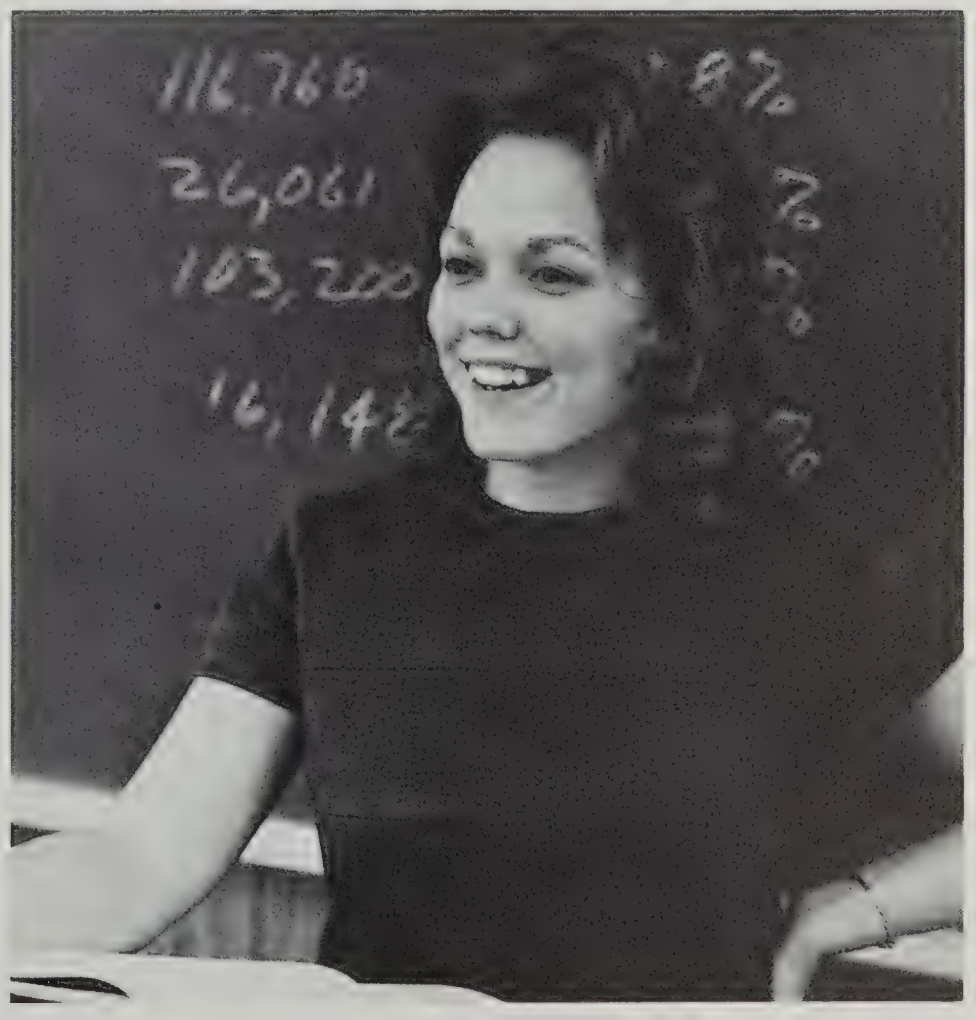

Even after a day of government classes, Mr. Pace has time for a friendly game of ping pong.

Mr. Brown pauses momentarily to imagine life as it must have been in the worn pages of the past.

Miss Bell smiles at a student's typical remark concerning the socio-economic status of . . .

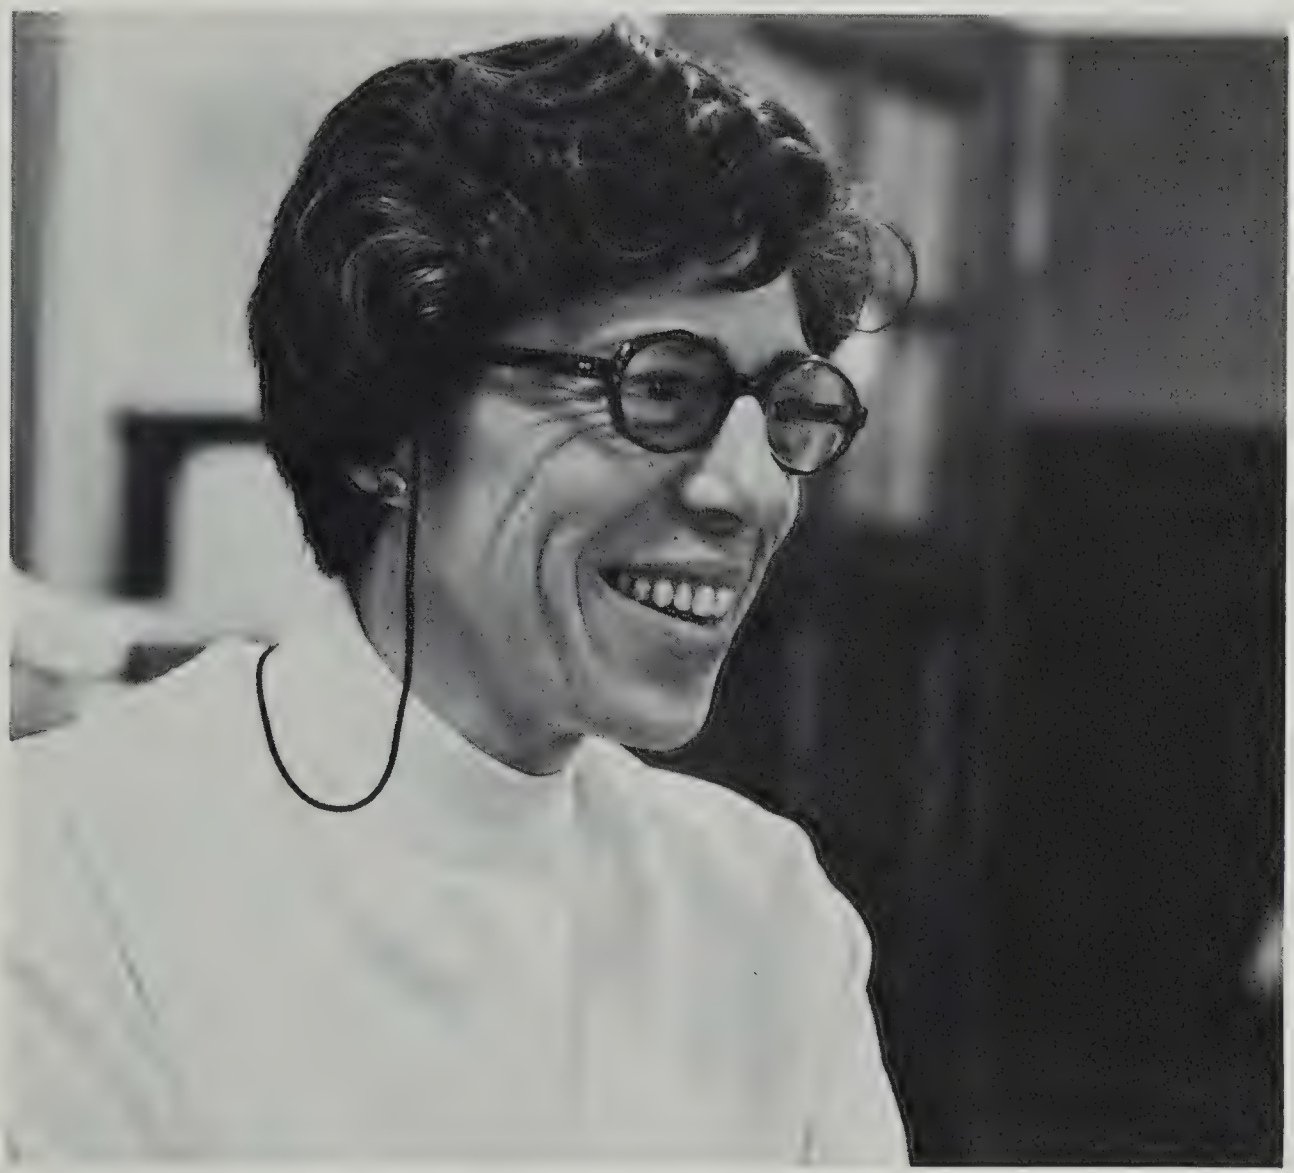

Show and Tell

Pushing back the frontiers of knowledge, the Waynesboro Science Department gives would-be scholars an understanding of the world we live in. By hopeful experiments and follow up "discussions", our professors of science valiantly attempt to squeeze the vast amounts of ever increasing scientific knowledge into 180 hectic days, with help from student "reactions."

Mr. Gilbert flashes a smile at another brilliant remark from one of his Chemistry students.

Mrs. Fletcher adds a light touch to her Biology lecture.

Becka Epes looks on helplessly as the world of Chemistry closes in on her.

An astounded Toni Cox leaps back from the microscope — her source of amazement.

RIGHT: Mr. Corwin interrupts his discourse on organic makeup to quiet an unruly student with a wave of his "pass."

Mind Games

The foundation of both Business and Academic courses is Mathematics. WHS's diversified program offers such subjects as geometry, algebra, trigonometry and analysis. For the more mathematically inclined student, there is even a hook-up with the computer at the University of Virginia. Regardless of which course taken, the mathematics curriculum at WHS stimulates the mind.

Mrs. Pidcock checks class attendence before starting her lessons.

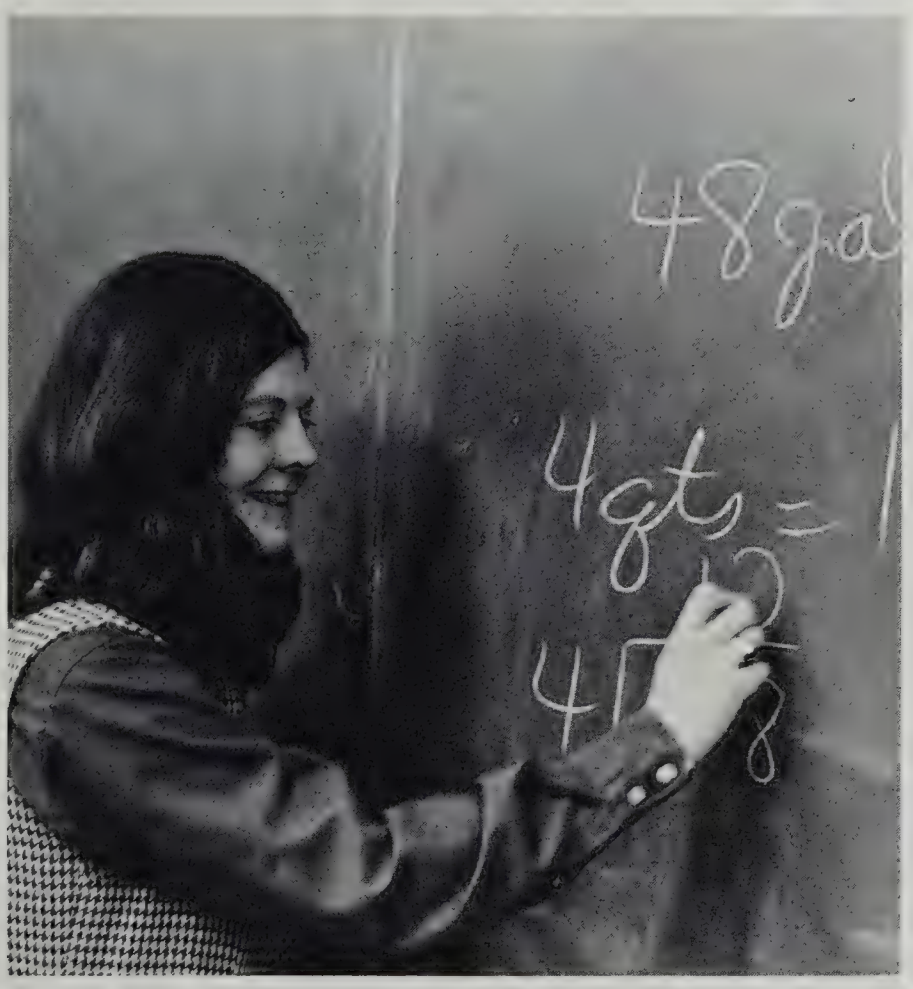

How can anyone resist Mr. Hamilton's luring smile?

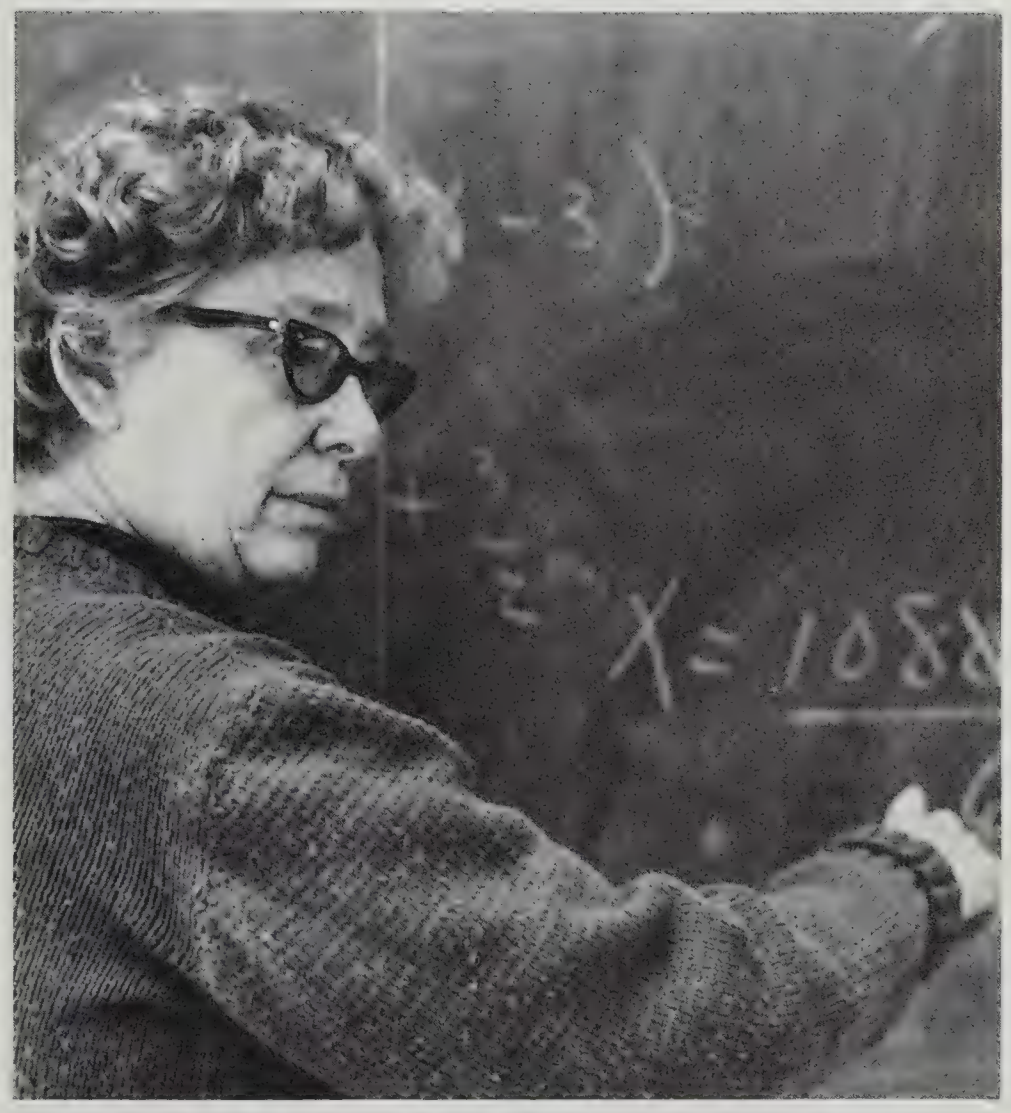

Mr. Guthrie helps a confused student through a difficult proof.

Miss Knicely heaves a sigh of relief at the ringing of the dismissal bell.

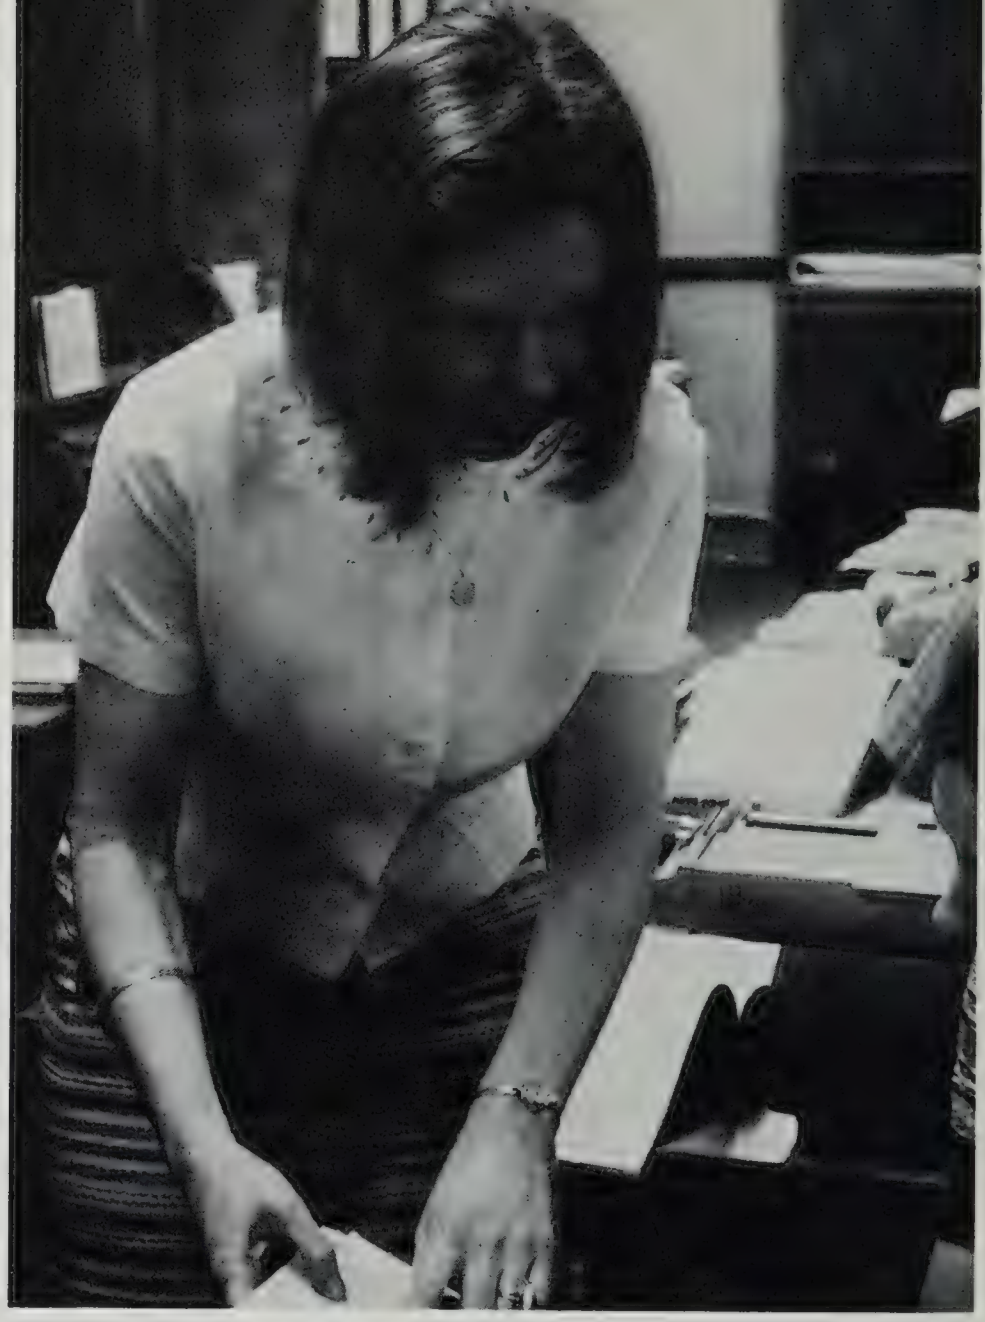

Miss Crider reviews the fundamentals of a math problem.

Mrs. Tucker gives the cold shoulder to a rowdy student.

Miss Critzer points out one of the many intricacies of typing to Shara Lindsey.

Mrs. Swisher pauses to take in another witty remark.

Mrs. Brodowicz is surprised to see that she has just checked a perfect paper.

Mr. Gilbert gives his utmost attention to the antics of a lively class.

Mrs. Kiser stops for a moment to enjoy the out-of-doors on one of her frequent walks between the DE Annex and the main building.

So Take A Letter . . .

The complex confusion of the business world does not seem so disordered to some students at Waynesboro High School thanks to an extensive program dealing with the various aspects of free enterprise conducted by seven industrious teachers. Consisting of both practical skills and general principles, the business-related curriculum is invaluable to students who plan to begin a career after high school.

An opponent's struggle with a lightening-quick smash brings out the best in Mr. Morris.

An amused look crosses Mr. Hasting's face as the photographer attempts to catch him unawares.

The Games People Play

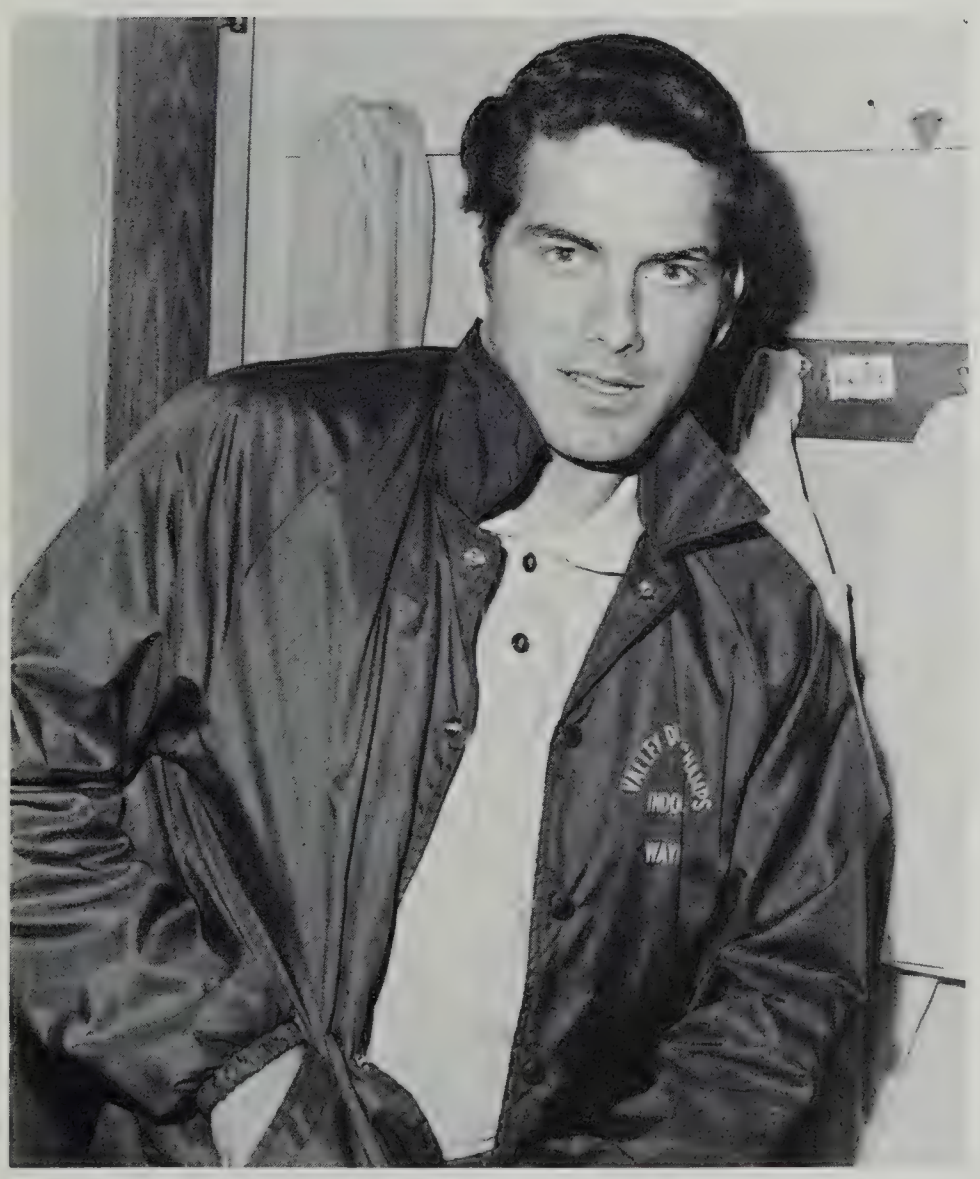

FAR ABOVE: "Anyone for a drive?"

ABOVE: Mr. Knicely intensely scrutinizes the Giant's statistics.

RIGHT: Miss Burkholder concentrates on getting 2 points.

Learning by doing, the Physical Ed and Driver's Training student experiences new ways of enjoyment from such activities as volleyball, tumbling, and basketball. These activities enable the students to learn to work with each other to become a team, while in Driver's Ed the student and the car become the team. Under capable instruction, the driver learns a new kind of self-confidence while observing the car, the road, and its rules.

Just My Imagination

For the first time, WHS has had two art teachers. The team is comprised of Mrs. Bunnie Austin, who is mainly responsible for the instruction of drawing and painting, and Miss Lynn Hilton, who incorporates both photography and crafts in her teaching schedule. The division of the curriculum into Arts or Crafts has given each teacher the opportunity to give more in-depth instruction. Students are now provided with the choice of an area of more concentrated interest — either in crafts or in drawing and painting. One of the highlights of the year was the creation of the first WHS art gallery, which is located in the auditorium lobby. Exhibits are provided from the students' work, and they are periodically changed.

Always ready to lend a hand, Mrs. Austin encourages a flustered art student.

Miss Hilton concocts a mysterious witches' brew for . . .

Becky Rhames gladly poses for the camera and readies herself to return the compliment.

If I Had A Hammer

The industrial arts department offers guys and girls a stimulating assortment of classes. The mechanical drawing and shop courses afford them a chance to incorporate both technique and creativity resulting in truly finished products of leather, wood, plastic or metal. Mr. Pidcock and Mr. Gurkin teach students the proper uses of a wide variety of tools and also advise them on choices of projects and materials. In addition to shop courses, Mr. Gurkin conducts one of the photography classes.

Mr. Pidcock demonstrates the use of complicated shop equipment to an eager student.

Mr. Gurkin jokes with an amiable student.

Mack Anderson gets some target practice with Mr. Pidcock's newest laser gun.

I Believe in Music

Humming to the tune of "California Here I Come," the W.H.S. band, directed by Mr. Pete Phillips, has been working busily toward raising funds for the San Francisco trip. Chosen as representatives by the Lions Club of Virginia, the W.H.S. band will perform in the annual parade of the National Lions Club Convention this summer. Monetary projects have included "Teachers' Days," "Ham Dinners, "Rock Concerts" and many smaller undertakings.

While the band is humming to "California Here I Come," the Concert Choir, which is under the direction of Mr. Roger Zimmerman, is singing "Lullaby on Broadway." This year marks the second annual Concert Choir presentation of a variety show, "March Madness." As usual, it was performed before a packed house and proved to be immensely enjoyable, as well as profitable to the choir.

Mr. Ed Buhl, director of the Mixed Chorus, has again created an outstanding choir. Several concerts were given in conjunction with the Concert Choir. Performances were also made at a variety of other locations, due to the ever-increasing popularity of the choir.

Mr. Phillips questions one of his band member's shady money-making deals.

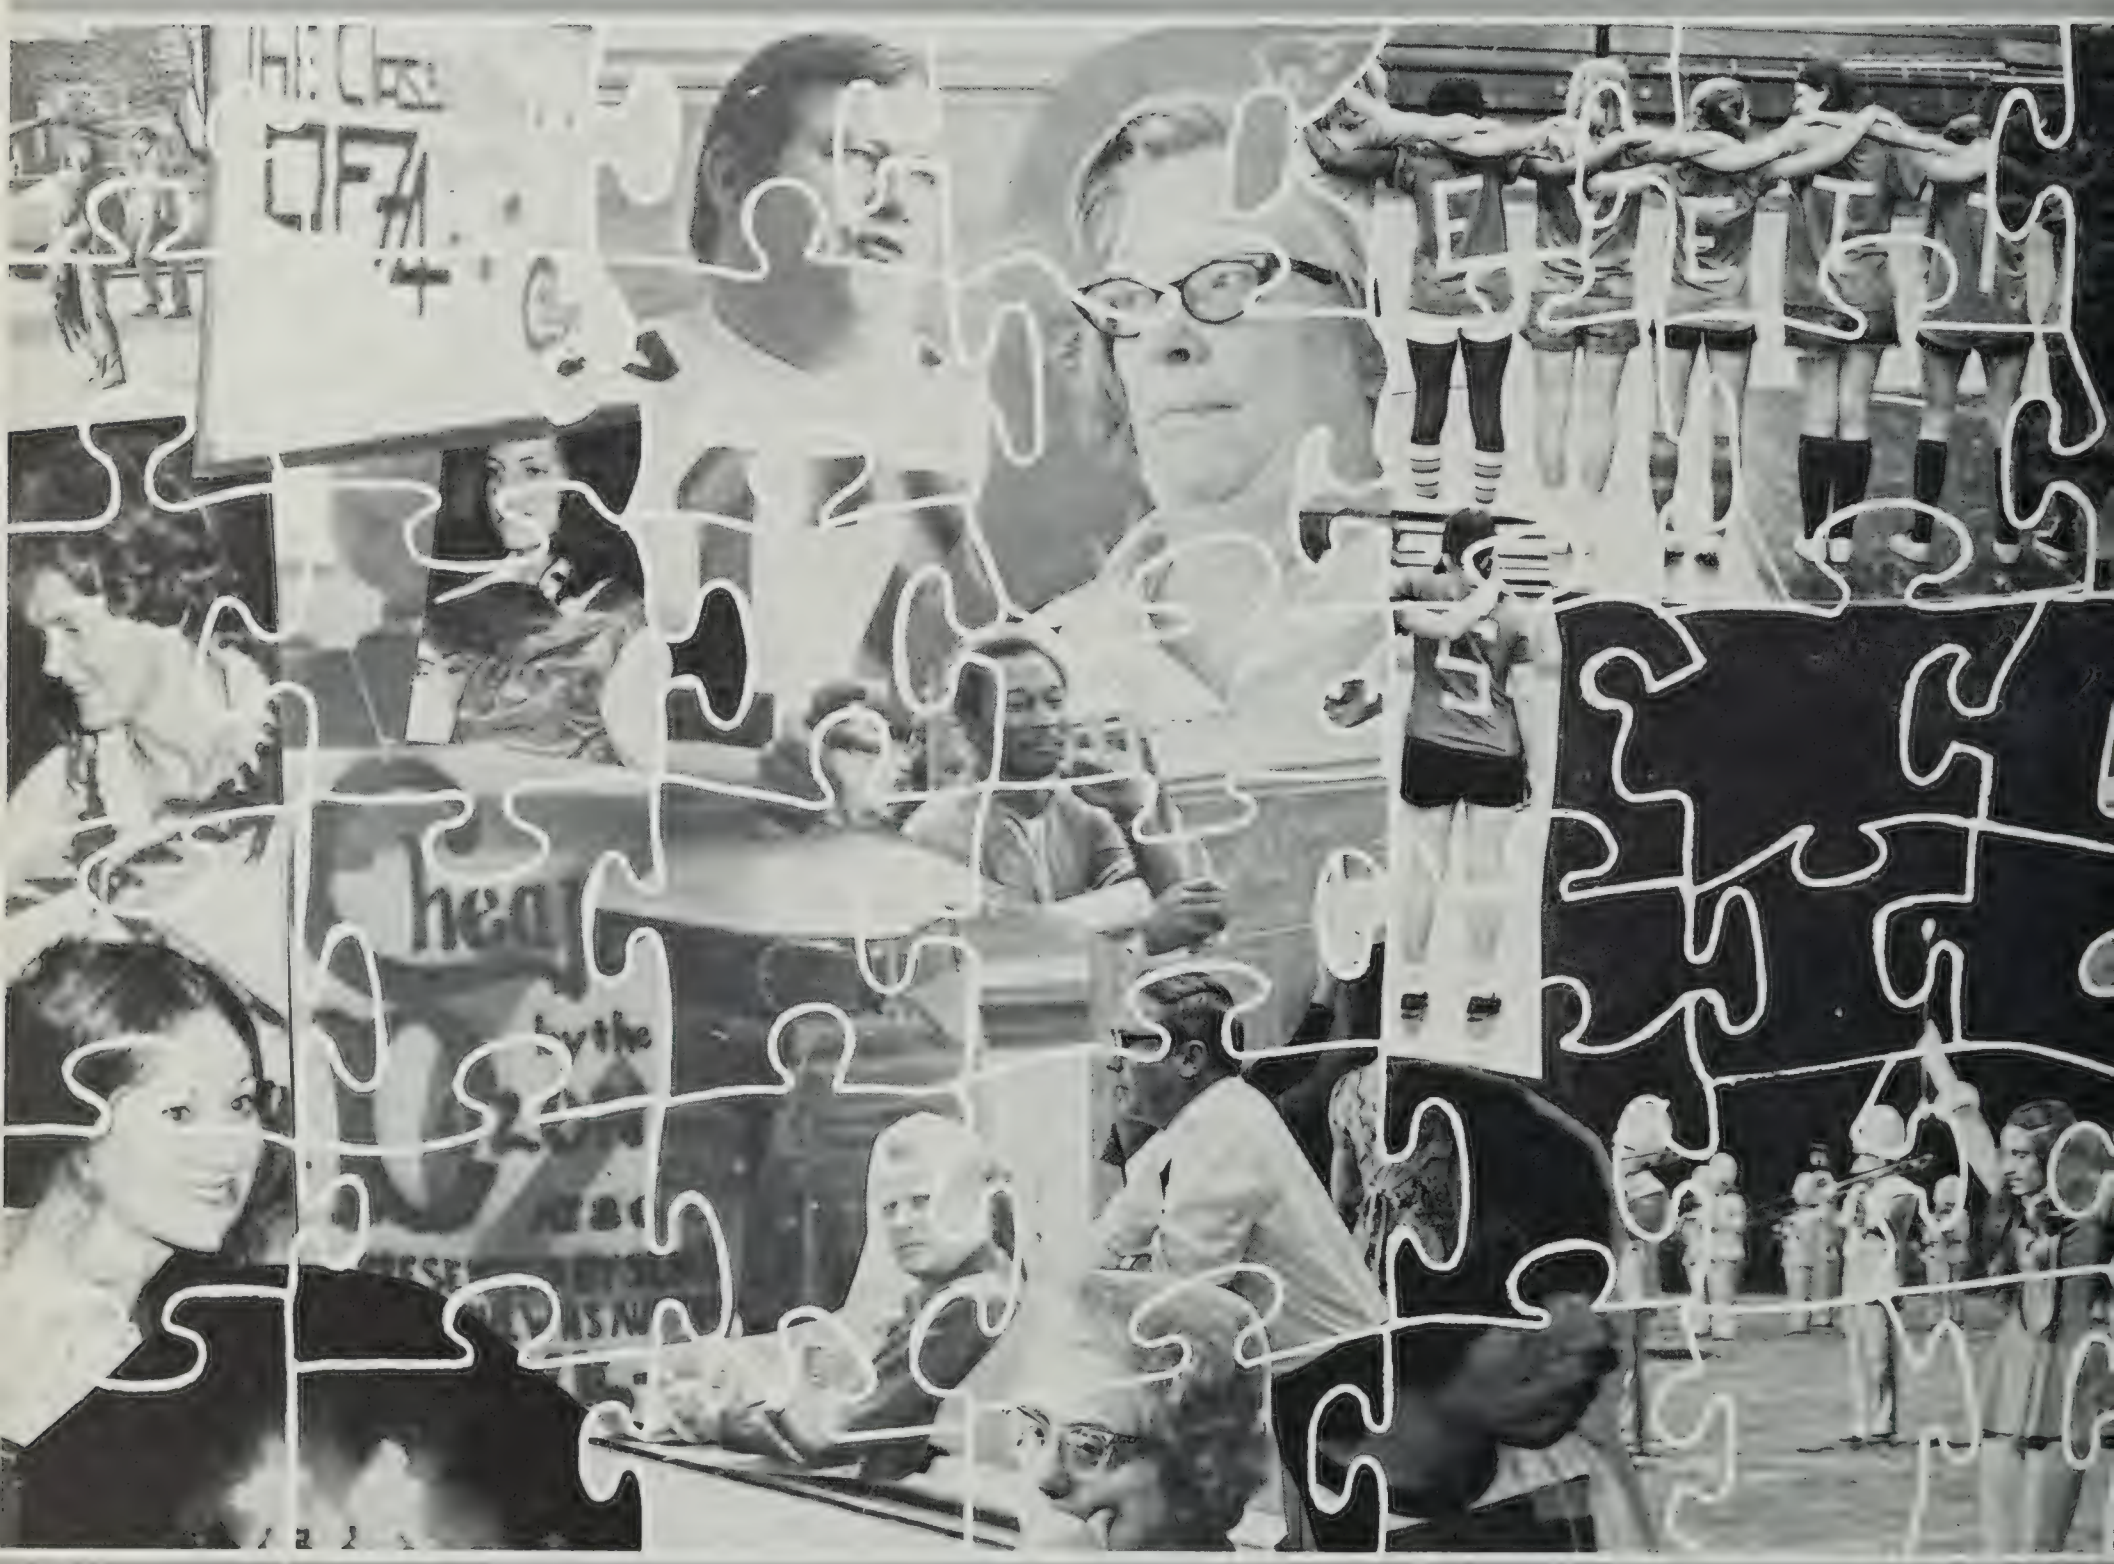

In the solitude of his office, Mr. Buhl relaxes after a rewarding choral session.

After a frigid first-half wait, the WHS Band anxiously moves out of the stands for the warming drills of halftime entertainment.

Mr. Zimmerman utilizes his office for a discussion concerning one of the Concert Choir trips.

FIRST YEAR FOR ADVISORY BOARD PROVES SUCCESSFUL

Jim Stoner responds to a suggestion with a disapproving glance.

In its first year, the Student-Faculty Advisory Board kept a low profile, but they made many original and creative recommendations. The Board originated the experimental dual study halls with one room for studying and another for talking and relaxing. They also suggested that the "chicken coops" be used in the future to provide space for a Senior Lounge, Annual Staff, and other activities. The Board recommended that WHS have an AFS student next year and established a committee to explore methods of financial assistance. In addition, they recommended a nine-weeks grading period for some subjects. In preparation for next year, the Board arranged for an election to determine its membership for the 74-75 school year.

TOP: Three concerned Student-Faculty sponsors, Mrs. Schneider, Mrs. Pidcock, and Mrs. Brodowicz.

BOTTOM: Excitement overwhelms part of the Student-Faculty Advisory Board.

Jim Stoner expounds on the advantages of a foreign exchange student.

LEFT: Mrs. Sally Spiller enjoys refreshments served by the FHA at a meeting of the Waynesboro Education Association.

HOMEMAKERS CONSIDER TOMORROW

The Future Homemakers of America furthered their culinary skills throughout the year by entertaining various groups such as the Waynesboro Education Association and the city school secretaries. At each regularly scheduled faculty meeting, the FHA provided tasty refreshments for the high school staff. Clearly, the services offered by the club were greatly appreciated and enjoyed by many people.

The Key Club at WHS got off to a slow start this year due to a change in executive capacities. But solid leadership soon emerged in the form of Gary Jones and Bill Eckman, president and vice-president respectively. The Waynesboro Key Club also holds a Capital District record in that Ted O'Hanlan, Lt. Governor of Division 5, is the ninth consecutive Lt. Governor from WHS.

The Key Club had many duties this year, both in the school and in the community. A familiar scene on Fridays was that of Key Club members battling against time in attempts of finishing lining the football field before game time, or holding ropes at basketball games in often futile endeavors to keep the crowd off the playing court. The annual Kiwanis Barbecue and Peanut Sale could not possibly have been so lucrative had it not been for the WHS Key Club.

The Keyettes, Key Club's industrious female counterparts, patiently weathered the Key Club's bureaucratic turmoils and together they had a successful basketball game in which the Keyettes thoroughly tromped on the Key Club. All in all, 1973-'74 proved a success for the Key Club with the promise of many more eventful years at WHS.

Dedicated Key Clubber Alex Herron cheerfully performs a weekly duty.

One of the hardest working, most dedicated clubs at WHS is the Keyette Club. If they weren't helping the Heart Fund in their annual drive, they were having a Chinese dinner to raise money for their convention in Washington, D.C. At Christmas they entertained the faculty and their families with a delicious dinner and a visit from Santa Claus. Their many Founder's Day projects, such as visits to the hospital and a float in the United Fund parade, brought them first place in the Founder's Day competition at Convention. Keyette-Key Club activities included a great Christmas dance and an exciting basketball game in which the Keyettes were victorious. This rewarding year was brought to an end with the annual Brunch in which more promising girls were brought into Keyettehood.

Sponsors Nancy Swisher and Mary Ely discuss the financial aspects of a Chinese dinner.

KEYETTES UNLOCK SERVICE

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is an organization solely consisting of God-curious individuals who wish to relate to each other their feelings and questions about God. The main purpose of the group is to have fellowship with friends and to rap about problems in an attempt to comfort them. FCA engenders spiritual strength.

The weekly FCA meeting finds its members in fine form.

PYE CLEANS UP

Brian Scruby and Chris Byrd add an extra bag to the pile of trash already collected from the banks of the Tye River.

One of the hardest working clubs at WHS is the PYE, Protect Your Environment Club. This year they cleaned up the Tye River, gathering loads of bags full of debris that was scattered along the banks. Monthly paper drives not only aided in the fight against litter, but provided the club with extra cash to continue their ecological projects.

Three faithful PYE'ers aid in one of their regular paper drives.

SPIRIT PERSONIFIED

Signs in the hall, Friday morning pep rallies, and the numerous Homecoming festivities are examples of the many projects successfully and enthusiastically undertaken by this year's Pep Club. President Bobbie Neff and her industrious club were responsible for the unquestionable success of Homecoming '73 — For Once In Our Lives. The club's spirit continued throughout the football and basketball seasons as loud cheering sections could be heard above the roar of the crowd, spurring the Giants on to victory and assuring the team that, as always, the Pep Club was backing them up.

Whether performing a half-time show or leading the band in the United Fund and Christmas parades, the majorettes could always be counted on to put on a spectacular display. Led through the grueling morning practices by their capable captain Brenda Grimm and encouraged by sponsor Evelyn Kiser, the twirlers endured freezing cold, exhaustion, and bruises while perfecting their routines. In spite of these trials, the majorettes kept smiles on their faces and enthusiasm and bounce in their shows.

The Waynesboro High School Band enjoyed one of its most successful years under the direction of Presley R. Phillips. The Concert and Stage Bands have performed brilliantly in several concerts. Leading in their accomplishments was their Winter Concert and the superior rating in District II Band Festival. As a marching band, they won recognition as Honor Band in the Christmas Parade and performed at Washington and Lee University and in numerous half-time shows. This June the WHS Band will represent Virginia at the Lion's Club International Convention in San Francisco, California. Needless to say this is a rare privilege, and Waynesboro High School can truly be proud of Mr. Phillips and his superior band.

MUSIC MAKERS

The Waynesboro High School Mixed Chorus attained a high standard of excellence during the 1973-74 year. This was due to the students' unselfish dedication and the superb directing of Mr. Edward Buhl, now in his third year at WHS.

The Mixed Chorus thrilled audiences at such traditional events as the Christmas and Spring concerts. They also entertained the patients at Woodrow Wilson Rehabilitation Center in March. Plans for a singing tour of Virginia Beach are being made for this summer.

CONCERT CHOIR CONTINUES CREATIVITY

The Concert Choir had another rewarding year. Hours spent in weekly summer rehearsals paid off during the year's first concerts at Emory and Henry College and in Marion, Virginia. The Choir was enthusiastically received by fellow students and by the Rotary Club and the Women's Club. In addition to the traditional Christmas and spring performances, Choir members displayed their talents in "March Madness". The highlight of the year, however, was the trip to New Jersey and New York City.

AMATEUR ACTORS ACT

From Shakespearean plays to "Chicken Man", the Drama Club has brought a new and exciting interest in the art of theatrics. Under the direction of Mrs. Alice Flora and Mr. Duane Hahn, two extremely capable actors themselves, one of the largest drama clubs ever performed their annual WHS Drama Spree Night. This production featured such audience thrillers as the "Thurber Carnival" and the district winning play, "Masque of Two Strangers". These and various skits added to the enjoyment of the crowd and actors alike.

The traditional, but soon to be torn down, DE Annex was the scene this year of the classroom instruction offered by the WHS Distributive Education Department. With the help of on-the-job training, DE students quickly learned about employment and the working world. Waynesboro High School students have indeed profitted from such a helpful course as Distributive Education.

SECRETARIES PREPARE

In preparation for future secretarial jobs, members of the 1973-'74 FSA Club diligently strove to increase typing and shorthand speeds in an effort to better themselves before meeting the business world. Periodic meetings found the future secretaries going over tips for office work and general bits of advice contributed by advisors Carol Critzer and John Gilbert. With such knowledgable leaders as these, it is no mystery why WHS students of business always come out ahead.

In such a rapidly advancing society, skilled technical workers are very much in demand. The purpose of Industrial Cooperative Training is to teach students various aspects of technology by giving them on-the-job training as well as classroom instruction. Through programs such as these, today's students become technically educated for tomorrow's job opportunities.

The varied expressions on the faces of these ICT students reflect the difficulty of Mr. Hastings' tests.

DOLLARS FOR SCHOLARS

In an effort to raise money for scholarships, the second annual Beta Club Dance Marathon was held in the Centre for Shopping. Eight tired but contented couples danced their way through 24 straight hours so that a few lucky seniors could receive scholarships to further their education. Even with tired feet and sunburned shoulders, these persistent couples danced to rock and roll, jazz, contemporary and modern music as passers-by contributed nickels and dimes.

Other Beta Club activities included the popular Sadie Hawkins Dance and annual car-wash. All proceeds were combined to form one fund that was distributed among several seniors at the end of the year.

INTELLIGENCE PROVES REWARDING

Concurrent with the present movement backing female superiority, this year's NHS consisted of 15 girls and 2 guys. Presiding over this scholarly lot was Susan Straw, who was assisted by Nancy Telep, vice-president, and Marsha Tooley, secretary-treasurer. Since NHS members kept their noses to the grindstone in order to maintain their high academic records, there proved to be little time left over for club activities. However, NHS did sponsor senior superlatives and wills, both items of ever-popular enjoyment and nostalgia for out-going seniors. Concluding the group's activities will be the awards assembly where next year's NHS members will be tapped and the valedictorian and salutatorian will be chosen from the ranks of the present NHS by Mr. Kiger.

FOOLISH FOLLIES

Although the school year has passed, the members of Young Fools on the Go will not likely soon forget the "fantastic foolish events" of 1973-74. Exciting excursions in Ridgeview Park, many pulsating picnics, and several "blasts from the past" in the form of 1950's parties created enough nostalgia for the group to savor for many years to come. (Our apologies to any bewildered spectators).

The fools that made things happen this year were: President, Bruce Taylor; Vice-President, Mark Robson; Secretary, Barbie Vigour; and Treasurer, Sylvia Downey. Other members were: Jim Byers, Janice Ely, Jeff Fox, Debbie Hosmanek, John Nichols, Susan Straw, Sue Thompson, Alice Martin, Robin Rheinhardt, Susie Roberts, JoAnne Roletter, Pattie Stiehl, Lisa Velenovsky, Jonathan Whitely, Sandy Allan, Cheryl Augustin, John Blanchard, Kenny Breeden, Chris Byrd, Linda Cabe, Teresa Daggy, Chris Dong, Ginny Dunaway, Greg Evans, Ruth Florey, Doug Fulk, Abby McChesney, Missy McMullan, Michele Monger, Warner Sandquist, Mike Steele, and Scott Velenovsky.

He listens to the joys and sorrows of the children who look up to and respect their S.O.D.A. counselor.

S.O.D.A. started as an experimental organization at W.H.S. and has grown to other schools in the state. At W.H.S. there are forty active students involved in S.O.D.A. this year.

LETTERMEN ORGANIZE CLUB

This year marked the formation of the Waynesboro High School Letterman's Club. This club, composed of all students at WHS who have earned a varsity letter in sports, cheerleading, or managing, was formed to help promote sports in the community.

Its activities included the very successful Letterman's Club Open Basketball Tournament, umpiring for the city team league, and an Athlete-a-Thon to raise money to pay some of the cost of asphalting the track. With a little extra effort from its members, the Letterman's Club has become one of the most active clubs at WHS.

The Science and Engineering Club is devoted to the promotion of science education for its members and the sharing of scientific ideals with the community.

In the fall a trip was made to the Wallops Island Marine Science Consortium where three glorious days were spent beach combing, marsh sloshing, and surf swimming as part of an active natural study.

During the winter, teams of students went into elementary classrooms and conducted demonstrations on science concepts. The classes were overjoyed to get to "do things themselves" and the student-teacher found the preparation a terrific learning experience.

The spring brought a trip to the Virginia Junior Academy of Science at Old Dominion University where student research papers from all over the state were presented and not strictly scientific fellowship was enjoyed.

SKYLINE INSPIRATION

Editor Letha Hammon and Advisor Andrew Shifflett compose the backbone of the 1973-'74 Skyline Yearbook.

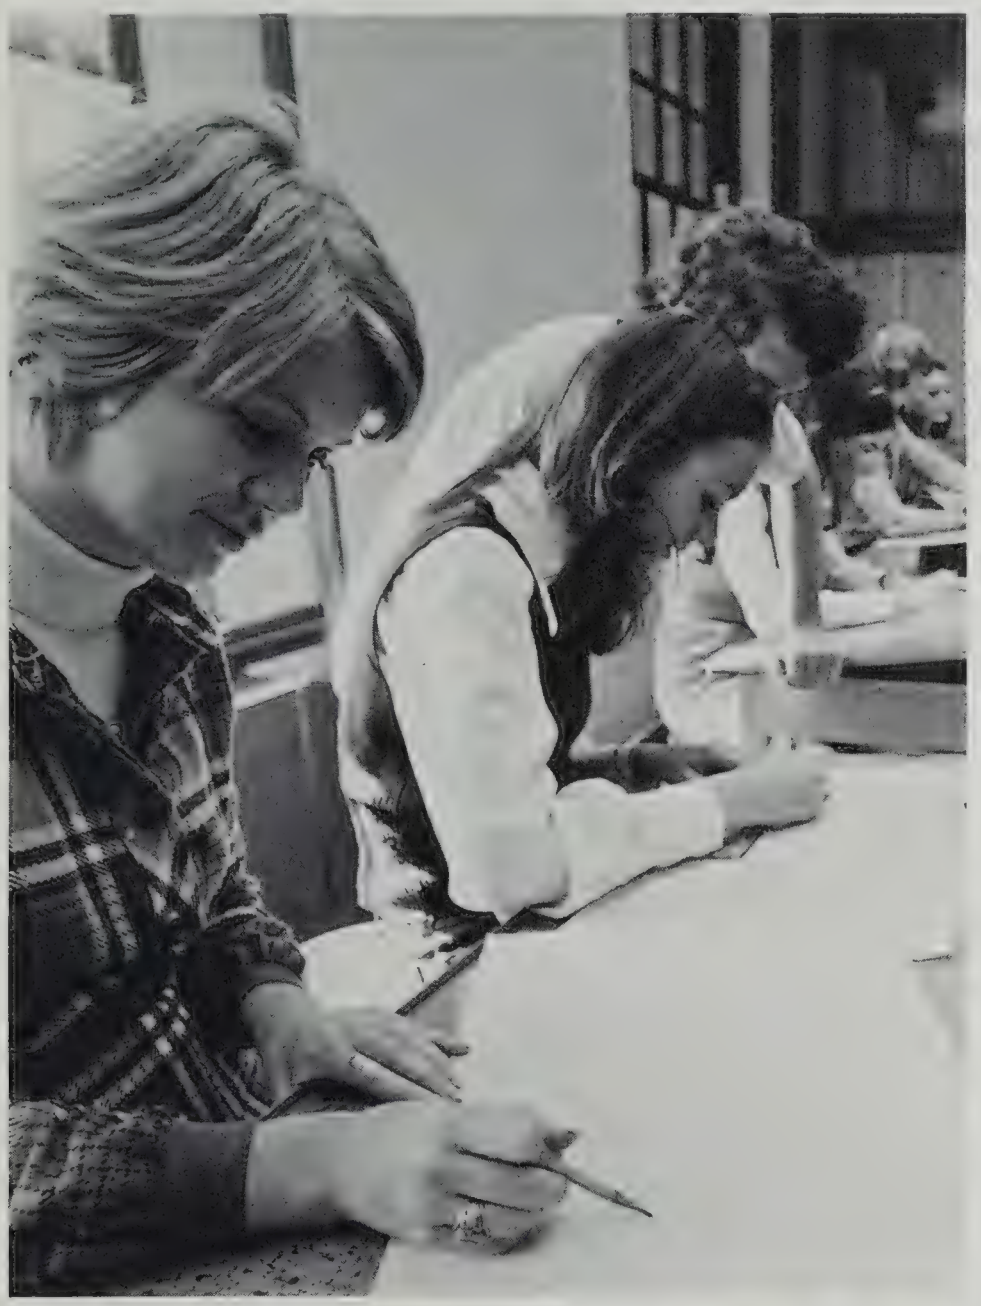

A rare moment: The annual staff hard at work.

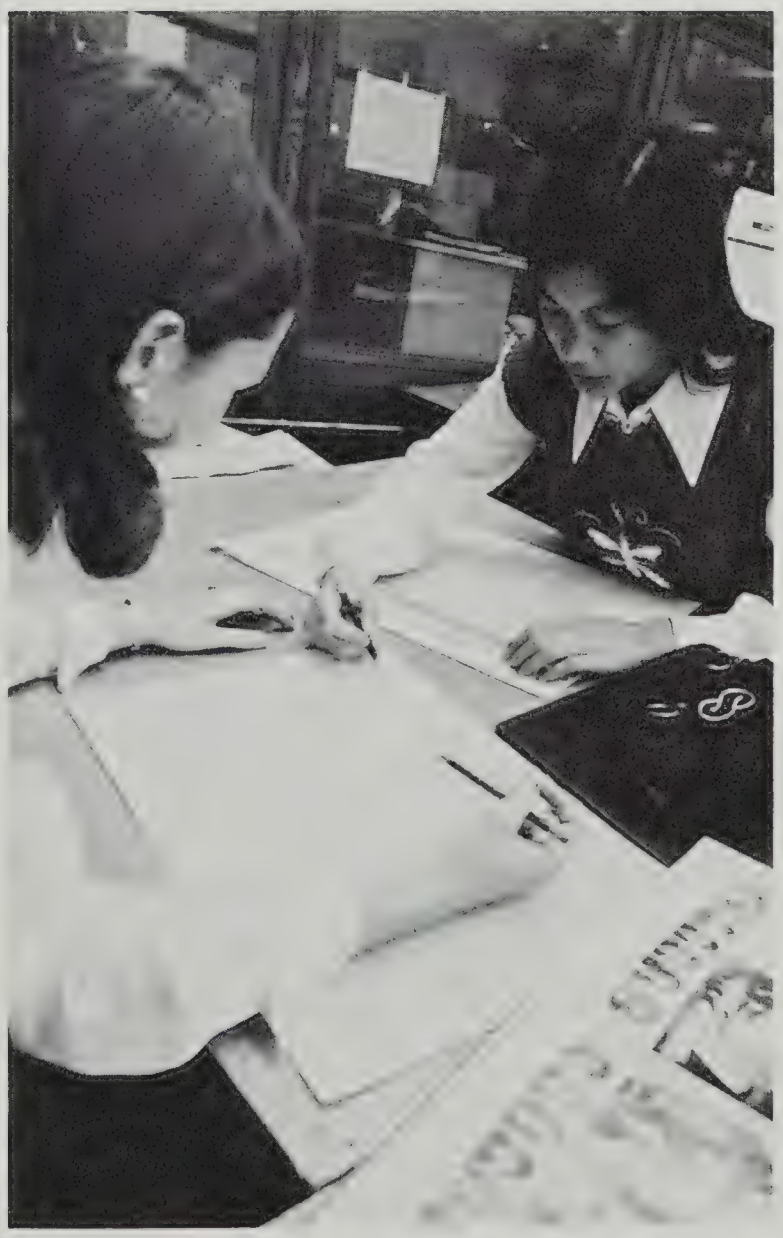

Even with criticism of last year's book, the '73-74 Skyline Yearbook Staff engendered much enthusiasm and produced yet another in the long chain of Skyline Yearbooks. The book itself is evidence of the many late hours spent in room 205, racking brains, cropping pictures and devising ingenious layouts. But the efforts of the staff paid off in the end when they presented this year's fantastic annual to the student body.

A disgusted Linda Mitchell grimaces at her layout as Vicky Dillon receives instructions from the "expert".

A typically industrious Barbie Vigour concentrates on yet another layout.

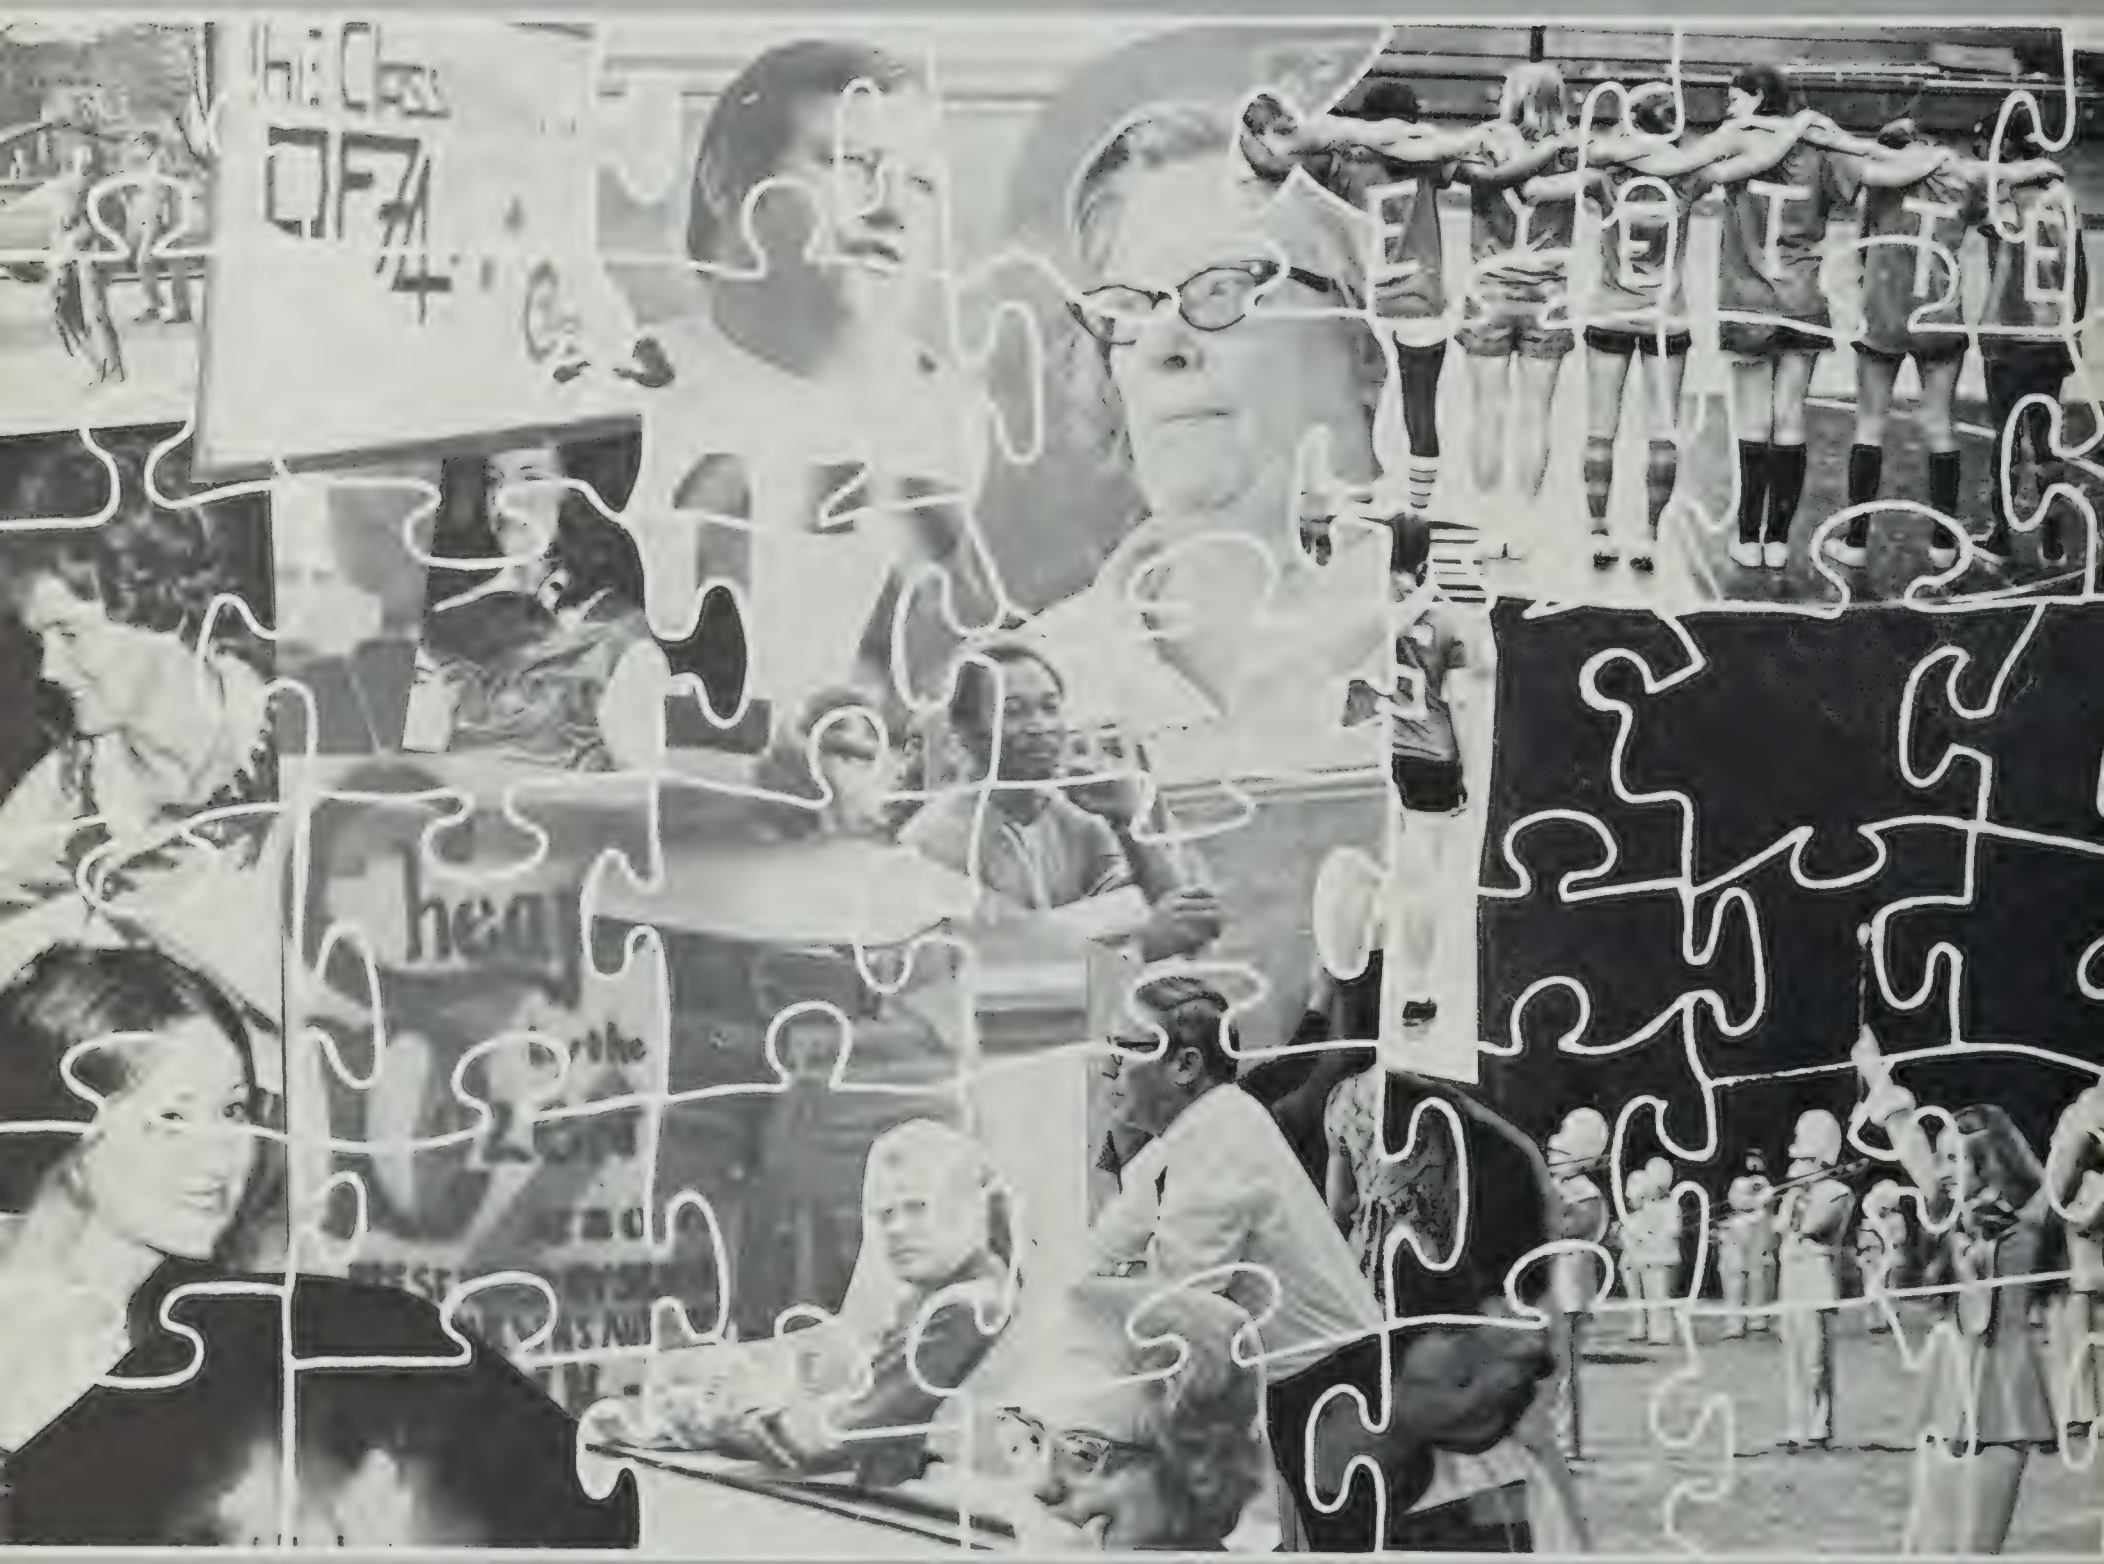

"But I thought it was like this . . ."

John Blanchard goes over the finer points of layout design with Sherry Morris.

Pieces of action.
Straining to excel, to be the best physically,
To win, but to learn from losing.
Performing to the utmost of ability.
Muscles.

The Cross Country runners rose from obscurity and the shadows of the more popular and exciting sport of football in 1973 to complete their best season yet. Running well in the big meets, the team brought home trophies by winning the S.M.A. Invitational and more importantly, by clinching the Valley District Meet for the first time. As a result of the latter victory, discreet talk of hopefully capturing the Triple Crown (District titles in Cross Country, Indoor Track, and Outdoor Track) was begun. The team was led by three All-District runners; seniors Mike Caulkins, Peter Naoroz, and junior Tim Ritchie. In a season marked by increasing spectator support, Cross Country established itself as a success. Coach Toms has indeed done a praiseworthy job.

GIANTS DISAPPOINTED WITH 5-5 SEASON

Endowed with experience, the Little Giants set their sights for the Valley District Title. The season opened with what was undoubtedly the crowd pleaser of the year. A heavily favored, long time rival, Lee High barely escaped the grasp of the Little G's. As the season progressed the hard hitting Giants collected their share of victories, but were unable to subdue the stronger Valley District powers. Leading the offense were QB Gary Jones, tight-end Dan Cox, and speedy flanker Jeff Walter. The backbone of the team, however, proved to be the defense. Lead by All District tackle Clif Denny and linebackers Gip Ridley and Larry Kestner the agressive squad provided good field position for the offense. The accurate kicking of Ridley supplied the Giants with the highest percent of extra point completions in the district. The individual player remembers the grass drills, the Oklahoma, the hill, and the hot summer practices. The individual fan remembers the score. Next year brings a changed district with new optimism.

Dan Cox catches his breath before he heads out for the work that was already cut out.

FEMININE CAGERS FINESSE

The liberated young ladies of Waynesboro High School, under the coaching of Miss Burkholder, represented the school's athletic program with a definite improvement. Interest in girl's basketball is picking up as evidenced by an increasing number of participants and spectators. The team is looking forward to a brighter future next year. A championship in the near future does not seem far off as the girls went all the way to semi-finals, before losing to eventual champions, Broadway.

Waynesboro High School Basketball faced both a disappointing and a successful season depending on view point. Most fans considered the season a disappointment because of the 6-15 record. However, from the vantage point of a coach or player the season was successful since this was almost entirely a rebuilding season. The squad was dominated by underclassmen, of which some had never played interscholastically before. Coach Austin, a man who believes in a lot of hard work, looks into the future with hope. He gives every player an equal chance at starting, frequently changing line-ups. The characteristics of this season can be summed up as constant hard work with future expectations as the only reward.

J.V.'S ARE SUPPORT FOR VARSITY

The Junior Varsity ran into an 8-11 record as it was being continually drained of its top players by the varsity squad. Nevertheless, Coach Moyer succeeded in making all the games crowd pleasers. Leading the squad in points were guards Tony Bare and Bo Wiseman, with Paul Sauers and forward Shane Showker doing well on defense and rebounding. With the help of this year's JV club, the varsity team should progress well next year.

GIANTS DEMOLISH DISTRICT

The continuing story of the Giant's attempt to win the Triple Crown progressed successfully with a smashing win of the Indoor District Title. The Giants came out of the field events leading TA by 26 points and pulled away, winning 106-57. The combined total of the other 8 Valley District schools entered came out to a mere 61 points. Coaches Toms and Pace can truly be praised for this year's team which also finished 2nd in the State behind Nelson County.

Keith Allamong returns back to earth just to see another record in hand.

The Waynesboro Thinclads successfully completed their quest of track's "Triple Crown". After capturing district Titles in Cross Country and Indoor Track, the cycle was concluded by winning the Valley District Outdoor Track title with a thrilling four point victory over Turner Ashby at Madison College in Harrisonburg. This was the first time Waynesboro won this meet. In a thoroughly rewarding season which saw the Little Giants bring home a staggering seven trophies from Outdoor Track alone, Waynesboro showed great individual strength with high finishes at the Handley Invitational and the Rotary Relays when only a fraction of the team was entered. In addition team depth was exhibited with full force victories at the Buena Vista Relays and the All-American Relays. The track team followed the trend of last year and continued its assault on the record books. School records were claimed by Keith Allamong in the pole vault, high jump and long jump, Pete Naoroz in the 880, Mike Caulkins in the mile, Stan Gomez in the two mile, Jim Belcher in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles and the two mile relay team of Duncan Hall, Ken Bywaters, Mike Caulkins, and Pete Naoroz. Also, Jeff Walter saw his sizzling record in the 440 at District meet erased because of faulty lane staggers. The season was capped off with a fifth place finish at the State meet with only a six man squad.

The 1974 WHS Baseball team completed its season with a record of 13-5, which is the best finish in baseball that Waynesboro has had in many years. The 13-5 record included two wins over AAA power Lane High and a thrilling 8-0 defeat of Harrisonburg on the Streaks home field. The Giants finished the season in a tie for first place with Harrisonburg and TA (record 8-1). The Giants defeated Ft. Defiance 11-10 in the first round of the District Tournament but lost in the final to TA. Since two Valley District teams advanced to the regionals this year, the Giants, along with TA, Broad Run, and Varina, composed the Region II Tournament. Waynesboro defeated Broad Run in a thrilling 11 inning 1st round game 2-1. They went on to meet Fort again and lost a heartbreaker 2-0 in the regional final. Out of the Giants 5 losses, 3 were to eventual state champions TA, and it is very possible that the Giants had the State's second best team, but unfortunately had to play TA in the regionals.

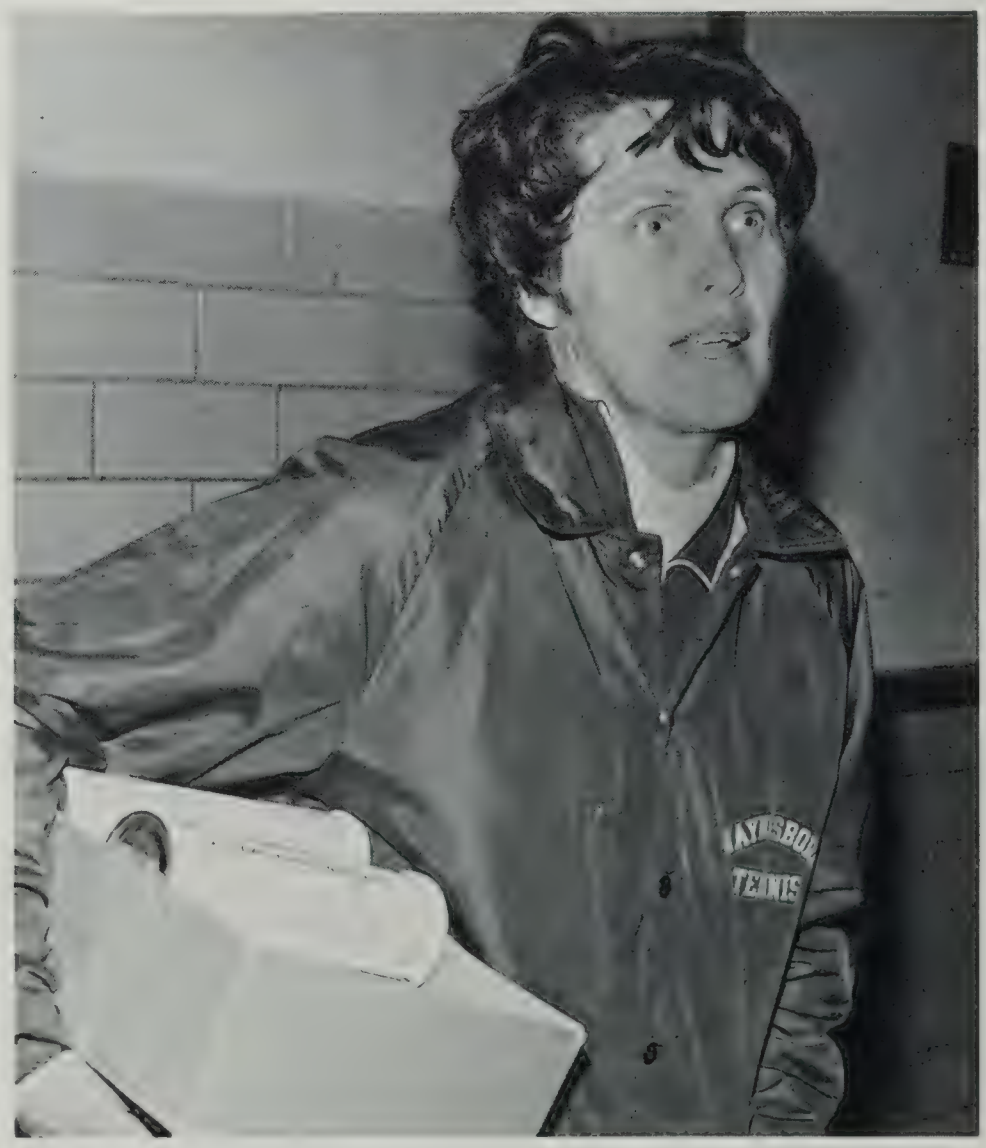

The Waynesboro contingent led the District in All-District selections this year with 8 (4 1st team and 4 Honorable Mention). The first team members included outfielders Jeff Walter and Scott McClamrock and infielders Gip Ridley and Bo Wiseman. The Honorable Mention selections included catcher Clif Denney, third baseman Ken Diggs, and Pitchers Jerry Steele and Kendall Layman. Led by a fine crop of seniors, the 1974 baseball team compiled its best season in recent memory. A member of our faculty even went so far as to state that this "was the best baseball team at Waynesboro High in the last 20 years." This is truly something that our school can be proud of.

1973-74 proved to be a very successful year for the Waynesboro High School Tennis Team. The Little Giant netters, coached by Wayne Grant and led by Robert Egleston and Webber Payne, the first and second seeds, respectively, compiled an impressive record of 9 wins and 3 losses. The three setbacks the team did suffer, however, were all at the hands of the Harrisonburg Blue Streaks, eventual winners of the state title for the second consecutive year.

Just as the guys were headed off by Harrisonburg, so were the gals. Under the coaching of Pat Austin, the female squad finished a strong second in the district. Highlights of the past season were Lex Leys' victory over Mary Newton, Alisa Blackburn's victory over Dorothy Gravely, and a strong doubles team of Mary Ann Krog and Joyce Shields represented the District at the Regional Tournament.

GIANT BOGEY

Despite losing its top three linksters from last year, the Little Giants Golf team managed to post an excellent 11-2 record. Led by Johnny Riggan, who averaged a strong 77 throughout the season, the Giants nearly captured the Valley Disrict Title, falling short by a mere one stroke. Being a comparitively young squad, Coach Hamp can eagerly look forward to next year.

ENCOURAGEMENT KINDLES PURPLE AND GOLD POWER

Through exhausting workouts at cheerleading camp and routine practices, WHS Junior Varsity and Varsity cheerleaders provided an enthusiastic as well as encouraging background for the fighting Little Giants. With each roaring chant, hope was aroused in the skeptical crowd as the spirit rose and the anticipation of victory increased greatly. From ice and soft drinks on a hot summer's day to refreshments on the buses, cheerleaders supplied the reviving element of a building-block season.

COMMITTEE SEEKS SUPPORT

The senior Committee began its first project during the summer preceding the '73-'74 school year. Rising seniors organized a lounge-renovating session in order to prepare it for the class of "Change". Next a car wash was held in hopes of raising money toward a senior trip. Unfortunately, class apathy stifled the trip during its early planning stages. Instead, the profits were used toward creating a Finals dance worthy of the Class of '74, and purchasing a cornerstone for the new building. This innovative idea was perfect for the class gift to the school, leaving the memory of the Class of 1974 etched in stone forever.

Senior Committee Officers include president Tim Miller, Vice-President Glenn Anderson, Secretary Peggy Gatzek, and Treasurer Mike Caulkins.

1. David Adams (Fungo) JV Show, Baseball. "California or Bust!"
2. Sheila Marie Aldinger (Sam) F.S.A. — Secretary. "My ways are not your ways and your ways are not mine, but let us strive to work together in love . . ."
3. James Robert Aleshire (Tubby) DE I, II, III, State and National DECA Clubs. "To the underclassmen 'Take a break kids, you're going to need it!"
4. Harry Anthony Alexander (Tony) Band, Beta Club, JV Show. "And you all know security is mortal's chiefest enemy."

TIME FOR A CHANGE

For its first stage debut, the Class of '74 presented "Change" as the Junior Variety Show. Hidden talents were brought out in many of the participants in order to produce an excellent show. The variety of skits allowed for a maximum of participants. Hence, anyone who wished to be in the show could have a part. The originality of the writers proved to be in the best of taste as the Class of '74 entertained a full house on both nights.

SENIORS ENACT COMEDY

For its senior play the Class of '74 chose Cheaper by the Dozen, a hilarious comedy about a family with twelve children. Casting proved difficult with all the talented seniors to choose from, but Mrs. Flora and Mr. Hahn succeeded in getting the right people for the right parts. Then the only problem was to get these actors and actresses ready for opening night.

Anne, played by Janice Ely, tries to console her boyfriend Larry (Gary Jones) after he encounters some bad luck.

Gip Ridley aptly portrays Joe Scales cheerleader as he demonstrates a rousing cheer.

Little Jackie gives Miss Brill a scare when he taunts her with his pet snake.

1. Timothy Lee Campbell (Noodles) "A new day is a new dawn"

2. Michael K. Caulkins (Mike) Soph. and Jr. Class Council, Sr. Class Treasurer, Key Club, Beta Club, National Honor Society, All-District Cross-Country, Indoor-Outdoor Track Letterman, Stage Band, Pep Band, J.V. Show, Sr. Play. "God, grant me the serinity to accept the things I cannot change, courage to change the things I can, and wisdom to know the difference.

3. Judith Gay Childress (Judi) F.H.A. Secretary-treasurer. "Live each day as if your life had just begun."

4. Debra G. Trent Clark Chorus, Drama Club. "Love is the spark that lights the world, our hearts, our minds. Love is the power that makes us one. Love; it is life."

5. Linda Mae Clark, Pep Club, Spanish Club, DECA, FHA, Majorettes.

6. Pamela Gail Clark Beta Club, Keyettes, Junior Variety Show, Pep Club. " . . . yesterday is but today's memory and tomorrow is today's dream. . . . and let today embrace the past with remembrance and the future with longing."

BEHIND THE SCENE

The Senior Play, Cheaper by the Dozen, was launched under the expert direction of Mrs. Alice Flora and Mr. Duane Hahn. Their advice, patience, and determination were vital to the production of the show. Student Director Jeff Fox and Production Assistant Debbie Hosmanek devoted their time and energy in helping the cast to prepare for the performance. And of course, the show could not have taken off without the constructive efforts of the stage crew under the direction of Ralph White.

SUCCESS AT LAST

After weeks of diligent practicing by the cast, after the stage crew had constructed the props, and after all the costumes were found, the production of Cheaper by the Dozen was ready to hit the stage. It was the moment of truth as the public was invited to view the play. The audience was obviously entertained as they laughed with delight at the comical scenes. The comedy was a smashing success and a credit to the Class of 1974.

1. Gary Ray Floyd "Most great men are dead and I'm not feeling well."
2. Theresa Gayle Floyd DE I, VOT. "Never stop trying to achieve the impossible, bacause if you try hard enough it will become possible."

THIRD TIME'S A CHARM

As in the past two years, Susie Wirt was once again voted into Homecoming Court. Keeping with tradition, her escort was Gary Huffman. Flanking her on either side were Karen Hartnett, two-time courter, and a new personality to the scene, Barbara Smith. Barbara was escorted by Craig Hiserman, our sports-minded baseball and tennis player. Karen picked Tim Miller, President of the Senior Class. The senior escorts stood out from the rest this year by wearing bow ties with their suits. Senior representatives to Homecoming Court were indeed a handsome crew.

Mr. Kiger had the pleasure of crowning the student body's choice of Homecoming Queen. Susie Wirt, strategically placed in the center, was honored by receiving the crown, the roses, and the sash which indicate the Waynesboro High School Homecoming Queen of 1974.

STATERS APPRECIATE GOVERNMENT

For one week during the summer, seven boys and eight girls were enveloped in the world of government. WHS's representatives to Boys and Girls State were involved in an informative session of learning through direct participation. The purpose of the annual program sponsored by the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary is to acquaint selected rising seniors with our present form of state and local government. Students are chosen with regard to leadership, initiative, character, cooperation, physical fitness, and patriotism. It is an honor to be chosen to attend Boys or Girls State, and those selected represent WHS with pride.

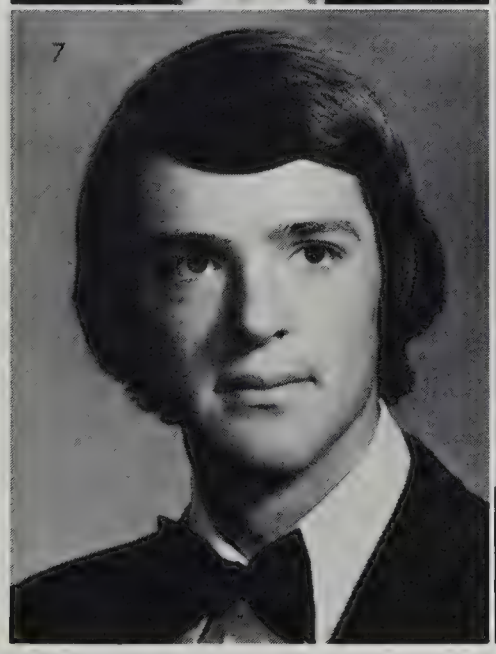

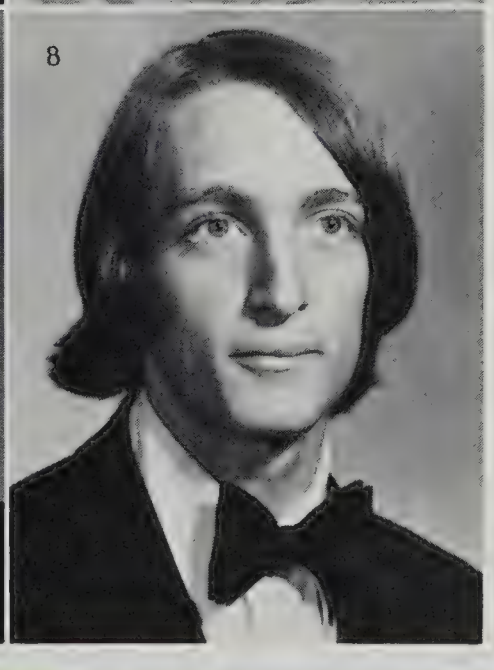

Boys and Girls Staters: Nancy Telep, Tim Miller, Gary Huffman, Gary Jones, Holly Barksdale, Freda Davis, Susan Smith, Vicki Sheffield, Mary Scott Kinnaird, Diane Dunaway, Janice Ely, Mark Stepp, Robert Egleston, Blair Moyer, Blake Porter.

IN MEMORY OF . . .

The process of growing up and taking on the world involves learning to deal with hardships. The most difficult task for the Class of '74 was bearing the loss of a much-loved classmate, Susan Hausrath. Sue brightened the lives of those who knew her and it was indeed a rewarding experience to be her friend. A dedicated worker in school activities, Sue was a member of the Keyette Club, the Beta Club, and the Latin Club. She was also a part of the Band, Mixed Chorus, and twice a class officer.

We, the Class of '74, wish to dedicate our Senior section to a classmate who was, who is, and shall always be with us. This is not the end, it is only the beginning; it is with her in mind that we continue.

SUPER SEÑORITA

Never has an AFS student been so well received as our one this year from Costa Rica, Fressya Monge. Frace, as she was frequently called by her friends, went from a few English words to an almost complete mastery of our language. Countless appearances in her "teepical" fiesta dress in which she did her version of the Spanish tango further made WHS students aware of Costa Rican customs and traditions. Her year with us proved a mutual learning experience for both Fressya and the WHS student body. The affection felt for this bouncy, vibrant senorita is impossible to express in words, but will never be forgotten.

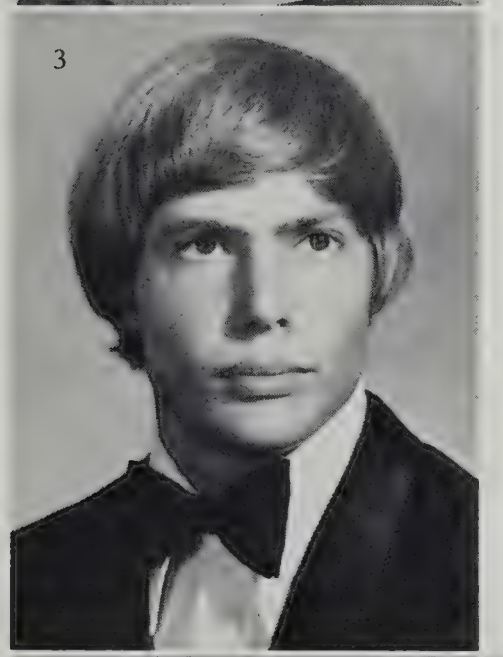

Fressya enjoys a typical American party.

HAVEN BENEATH THE STAGE

Decorated in red and black, a very unique lounge was created by the seniors. It was a place to go during study hall, a place to talk with friends, a place to quench one's thirst, or even a place to watch television. Plenty of old but comfortable furniture lined the walls, and the lounge proved to be a fine place for seniors to relax.

TALENT UNLIMITED

The graduating Class of 1974 displayed throughout their years at WHS a diversity of excellence in different areas — in academic achievements, in athletics, in music, art and drama, and in business and industrial skills.

Voted upon by the Senior Class as representative of the best in each field, the senior superlatives point out the outstanding seniors.

THANK YOU MISS KNICELY

Once again, Miss Janet Knicely has completed a successful sponsorship of the Senior Class. Throughout the year, she served as a guide and inspiration for the many projects undertaken by the Class of 74. Under her expert direction, the Class of Change was able to execute various activities for a profitable and satisfying result. Truly, Miss Knicely has proven herself to be an invaluable asset to the WHS Senior Class.

THE FINAL FLING

After grueling exams and an intellectually exhausting year, all attention was focused on the drab high school gym as it became WHS's first Fantasyland. Surrounded by an Enchanted Forest, a Castle, and a Fire-breathing Dragon, a final tribute was paid each senior as he was escorted through the traditional ring figure. With music provided by Jarbo, the Class of '74 danced their way into one of their last evenings of togetherness.

Leaders of the Pack

This year was a big success for the Junior Class. The reason for their success was that the class was backed by dedicated officers and sponsors. The officers and sponsors stood behind the class all the way. Also, the class was fortunate to have a hard-working Junior Class Council. The Class Council made many important decisions for the class.

Spirit Shines Through

During the school year there are constantly ways for a class to show their spirit. The class of '75 went far beyond the usual display of support. They repeatedly captured the spirit stick at pep rallies, and yelled their team to victory at the games. The Junior Class contributed the appearance of two lovely young ladies along with their handsome escorts to make the Homecoming Court a booming success.

Action in the Community

Fortunately for us, every year we have many girls from the Junior Class as finalists in the Miss United Fund competition. This year six out of the thirteen contestants were from Waynesboro. They were Denise Burcham, Jean Ann Heatwole Brown, Barbi Campbell, Carol Cooper, Cathy McNair, and Mary Margaret Skelton. Being one of the finalists involves writing ones concept of the United Fund, making public appearances that represent an agency of the United Fund and talking about them, riding in parades, giving out information, and preparing and being in a fashion show. With a busy schedule like this, being a United Fund finalist is a great experience for any girl. The girl that exemplifies the most poise and spirit for the United Fund is chosen as Miss United Way. Miss Denise Burcham was crowned this year's Miss United Way and Cathy McNair was crowned second-runner up.

Looney Toonz

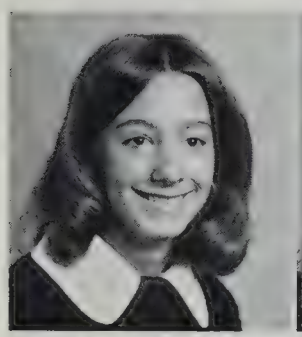

"One, two, three, four, five we're the class of '75, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, let's back it up, let's do it again." This was the cheer adopted and edited to fit the approval of this year's Junior Class while rehearsing for their Junior variety Show. Under the patience and direction of Hugh Scott as director and Susie Roberts as producer, the Juniors finally came up with "Looney Toonz", their own rendition of television shows and commercials. Although there were many problems during the rehearsals, the Juniors bound together to help each other out for the opening night. The Junior Variety Show proved to be one of the greatest moments in a high school student's career. While Juniors were finding out what their class could do together, they also got to know each other better. It is a wonderful, exciting, fun, scary, nerveracking experience. But I'm sure that no Junior would trade it for anything in the world.

Decisions, Decisions! Which one should I wear?

Worn with Pride

The day had arrived. Valentine's Day, February 14th, 1974. The day long to be remembered by many Juniors. This day was when the Juniors got their class rings. Although there were all different kinds of stones with different cuts and in different sizes, they still emphasized the same thing. The arrival of the rings brought with it the feeling of being an "official" Junior. These rings are to be cherished and shared with others through good times and bad, but the day they received them will never be forgotten.

Juniors on the Move

The junior year is perhaps the most eventful of all your high school years. This year's Juniors were constantly on the go. Besides the usual happenings of school, the Juniors were expected to do much more, such as J.V. show and Junior-Senior Prom. The class really came together while undertaking these projects. They worked well together and were dedicated to their tasks.

SUMMER BREEZE

Buttercup Yellow, Holiday Green, and Bright Orange blended together to make the Class of 75's interpretation of Summer Breeze. Even though it took hard work and lots of time the end result was well worth it. The Juniors took this opportunity to give the well-deserving Seniors a gift they would never forget.

Sophomore Spirit Prevails

Sophomore Spirit of '76. Behind every loud sports crowd this year was a pack of spirited and screaming Sophomores that were encouraging and supporting the Giants loudly and aggressively. Whether the score was high or low the motivating Sophomores stood behind their team.

Sophomore Life

What can be expected to happen during the school day when all you do is go to school, go to classes, lunch, and then go home? Not a whole lot, unless you're a Sophomore. It takes a person with imagination, initiative and a touch of moxy to change a dull day into something to look forward

"Action — a key word for the scholar" and for the W.H.S. Sophomore. Frantic and constructive Sophomore activity consisted of ecology-minded Sophs. cleaning Ridgeview Park; a community-minded M.S. Drive; a class-minded bake sale and car wash. The "New Blood" of W.H.S. moved right into the main flow of the student life with an exciting, romantic Sweetheart Dance. W.H.S. — look out. The action-minded are moving up.

WHAT YOU SHOULD ASK YOUR EMPLOYER

1. PAY. You should request at least $321.00 per month to start. Request regular promotions with increases in pay for promotion and years of employment ($342.00 a month after 4 months training, with additional pay and fringe benefits for married personnel.
2. VACATION. Request 30 days paid vacation every year starting with your first year. Request low rate or free world travel privileges any time while on vacation.
3. EDUCATION. You should continue your education while you work and the company should pay 75 per cent of these educational costs. If selected for college, your tuition should be paid and your normal salary continued.
4. ALLOWANCES. Ask your employer for a clothing allowance. About $300.00 for initial outfitting and at least $6.00 a month to maintain and/or replace worn-out clothing. Request a cost of living allowance and quarters allowances for your wife and family.
5. LEISURE. You should have company operated clubs for your leisure time. Swimming pools, tennis courts, movies and libraries should be added features to expect. Prices should be mininal or free with no fees for joining.
6. MEDICAL CARE. You should have unlimited sick leave with normal salary during the entire period. Any medical or dental care for yourself should be absolutely free, along with fre medical care for your family.
7. MARKETING. The company should operate grocery, department, laundry, variety, and other stores which reduce your expenses up to 30 per cent.
8. RETIREMENT. Your retirement plan should feature 50 per cent of pay after 20 years to 75 per cent of pay after 30 years, with no contributions on your part. Should you retire for medical reasons, your retirement pay must be tax free. You should be eligible to retire any time after 20 years.
9. TRAVEL. Your employer should agree to relocate you, at your request anywhere in the United States or free world, pay your travel expenses up to six cents per mile and move your household effects free of charge. If married, agree to pay for your dependents travel and one month's extra quarters allowance each time you move.
10. BONUSES. Your employer should be willing to pay you up to $10,000.00 cash bonus to stay with him after 21 months.
11. TRAINING. Inform your employer that you have no experience and you expect to be trained and receive all benefits from the start.

With these 11 points in mind, check the following sources for the same fringe benefits:

. . . Friends . . . Want Ads . . . Employment Offices . . . THE UNITED STATES ARMY

Ask the prospective employer what he has to offer, and remember this: If he thought you expected him to match these 11 points, he would more than likely end your interview immediately. Better yet, don't waste time, see your Army Representative.
